Negroes Continue Rioting In L.A. 19 Men Killed, Scores Wounded

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wild rioting continued for the fourth night in Negro sections Saturday night and, as police and National Guardsmen fought shoulder to shoulder, to check it, a curfew was proclaimed.

As night fell the Fire Department said there were at least eight areas of major blazes in a 22-square-mile area declared unsafe.

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson signed a curfew proclamation ordering citizens off the streets at 8 p.m.

Meanwhile, 8,000 troops from Northern California's 49th Infantry Division began arriving by air shuttle to reinforce thousands already on duty from Southern California's 40th Armored Division. Both are National Guard units.

Troops in battle formation conducted sweeps aimed at driving arsonists and looters from sections where 19 men have been killed since Friday night, most by gunshot.

At dusk, Fire Department Capt. William Clutterham said, after a helicopter flight over the south side Negro district:

"There seemed to be at least eight major areas of big blazes. In each one there are groups of smaller fires that have burned or are burning dwellings. It's fantastic."

"We swooped low in several places and saw three or four young Negroes putting wood scraps against buildings and setting them afire."

"We could see their faces but we just had to watch. We were"

Los Angeles Negro Community Appears Without Leadership

LOS ANGELES (AP)—As rioters and looters defied police and National Guard for the fourth day Saturday, the South Los Angeles Negro community appeared without effective leadership.

"What's happening out there is out of the Negro leaders' hands," said Woodrow Coleman, a co-chairman of the Nonviolent Action Committee.

Soviet Reports Making Close Up Moon Pictures

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Saturday it has photographed the moon again from a space probe, this time relatively close up, and said much new detail was disclosed.

A Soviet scientist said the new pictures would permit mapping the whole of the moon, front and back.

The photographs were not immediately made public. They have been held up two weeks since they were called in from a space probe that closed in on the moon with cameras functioning. Official photo agencies here said they would be released this week.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported the photographs were taken July 20 from a distance ranging from 7,200 to 6,500 miles, about the distance at which America's Mariner 4 photographed Mars.

The pictures were taken as the vehicle approached the moon a slight distance to one side. That permitted pictures not only of a part of the moon hidden from the earth, but part of the side normally seen on romantic June nights. Features of the moon showed up with shadows cast by sidelighting from the sun that helped outline their nature, Tass said.

The vehicle which took the pictures traveled on another nine days, until July 29, before the signal was given to transmit the pictures to earth. The pictures were taken by Zond 3, which was launched July 18 without any announcement of the purpose of the launching.

Tass told this story: For an hour and eight minutes Zond 3 sailed by the moon, its cameras locked on the lunar surface taking an unannounced number of television pictures. Then it sailed on beyond to a favorable position for transmitting them to earth.

This began when the ship was 1,368,000 miles from the earth, more than four times as far away as the moon. Since then the machine has transmitted during 38 periods.

The area photographed was largely territory missed by the Soviet ship which photographed the hidden part of the moon in October 1959.

Police Chief William H. Parker refused to meet gang Negroes, saying: "I'm not going to meet with any leaders. These rioters don't have any leaders."

Gen. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Los Angeles, says on the one hand: "I don't think it's out of the hands of the Negro leadership. All of them are down there doing what they can to restore normalcy."

But Hawkins then adds: "The rioters won't believe us. They've been misled before. These people are highly charged from years of deprivation. The Negro is now too far separated from the white power structure."

Efforts within the Negro community to halt the violence have been unsuccessful.

Ministers have pleaded with the mobs, but a witness said: "The crowd called the ministers hypocrites. They cursed them and spit on them."

The local of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, president Norman Houston Jr., made a radio appeal to the rioters, but violence persisted.

Negro comedian Dick Gregory, accompanied by police, tried to settle the crowd Thursday night, but was shot in the leg by a rioter.

The Federal Community Relations Service has contacted Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty and dispatched a representative to help the local Negroes work out their problems.

But Robert Hall, another NVAC co-chairman, says a Negro's reaction is: "We don't want you to come down there with Dick Gregory or Martin Luther King if you're only going to laugh at us. Baby, if you're going to be one of us, here's a bottle—throw it."

REPORT ON ZAMBIAN CHURCH UPRISING

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—An inquiry commission report on Zambia's Lumpa church uprising, in which more than 700 people were killed, has been given to President Kenneth Kaunda and is expected to be made public.

Among witnesses in closed hearings was the fanatic Lumpa prophetess Alice Lenshina who at the height of her "holy war" was "wanted dead or alive."

She has been detained a year without trial.

Land More U.S. Marines In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government troops mounted an offensive against the Viet Cong near North Viet Nam's doorstep Saturday, swiftly following up a raid only 17 miles from the Communist border by a fleet of U.S. B52 jet bombers.

About 2,800 more U.S. Marines landed at Chu Lai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. That boosted to more than 85,000 the number of the American armed forces in Viet Nam, building up by order by President Johnson toward a total of 125,000.

Four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs staged a leaflet-dropping mission and four others conducted bombing runs over North Viet Nam, whose gunners downed five U.S. Navy planes Friday. Briefing officers said all the Thunderchiefs returned safely.

American Marine patrols operating out of Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, killed three Viet Cong and wounded 20 without suffering any casualties, a Marine spokesman said. He reported a guerrilla mortar and small arms cache were seized in Elephant Valley, 12 miles northwest of Da Nang.

Targets of the eight-engine B52s on their eight Strategic Air Command mission over South Viet Nam were the stamping grounds of two Viet Cong battalions—perhaps up to 1,000 men—in Ba Long Valley, 90 miles northwest of the Da Nang.

Military sources at Da Nang said the Vietnamese troops who followed up the raid killed 14 Viet Cong in the initial phase of their offensive, one of the largest ever staged in the 1st Army area abutting the border.

There was no immediate report on results of the B52 strikes. Even details as to the number of planes and the total of bombs dropped were withheld. A briefing officer said a new directive has made this information classified material.

In the absence of confirmed Viet Cong casualties, spokesmen have referred to the B52 raids as harassment operations to disrupt known centers of enemy activity.

Extend Enlistments Of All Regular Navy, Marine Corps Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tens of thousands of Marines and Navy men who thought they would be returning to civilian life soon received new orders Saturday: Stay on for four months beyond the scheduled end of enlistment terms.

This involuntary extension of active duty for enlistment men in the regular establishment was ordered by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze.

The purpose is to enable the Marines and Navy to carry on until the two services can build up more manpower under the recent presidential authorization for expansion in the nation's armed strength.

Viet Nam is one direct factor. The Marines, with about 36,000 men deployed in Viet Nam, want to keep experienced men there until trained replacements can be sent.

For this reason, the order becomes applicable to the Marine Corps almost a month earlier than to the Navy.

Nitze's order says the four-month extension applies to Marines on Aug. 20, to the Navy on Sept. 15.

This means enlisted Marines whose terms of enlistment would have expired on Aug. 20 or thereafter are caught in the

Johnson Urges Negroes To End Killing, Looting

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson cautioned Negro rioters Saturday that "equal rights carry equal responsibilities" and called for an end to a spree of killing, looting and disorder in Los Angeles.

The President assailed the violence as "contrary to the best traditions of this country."

By way of concrete action, he dispatched two key officials from Washington to intercept Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California in New York, talk over the plight of Los Angeles and "inform him of our desire to be of any possible assistance."

The statement and the offer were the highlight of the President's day midway of a week-end respite at the LBJ Ranch.

At the same time, Johnson lauded progress in the South in registering Negroes to vote.

The President received a report from Chairman John W. Macy of the Civil Service Commission that 6,998 Negroes were registered in the last four days in nine Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana counties—four times as many as previously.

This was done by federal examiners.

The main focus of presidential attention, though, was on what he termed tragic and shocking events of the past few days in Los Angeles.

The men Johnson sent to New York are Undersecretary of Commerce LeRoy Collins and Lee White, the President's special counsel.

Collins is a former governor of Florida and until recently was director of the Community Relations Service, set up in the Commerce Department under the 1965 civil rights law to help communities meet the integration problem. White has been a trouble shooter on civil rights.

Antipoverty Money Bill Faces Heavy GOP Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are wheeling up their mortars for a heavy bombardment of President Johnson's antipoverty program when the Senate takes up a $1.65-billion authorization bill Monday.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Republicans will concentrate on what he called waste in a program he said has provided inadequately high salaries for administrators and is subject to political control.

"No good reports are coming from the country on this program and, believe me, I have been reading them all," Dirksen said in an interview. "There is waste, high salaries and in many local instances there is no program at all for all of the spending in prospect."

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, supplemented this with the charge that the program "by mismanagement or design appears to be exploiting the poor rather than helping them."

"The poor get poorer as the politicians controlling the programs get stronger," he said.

Despite efforts to trim the amount to be provided for the program, however, Republicans privately have little hope of amending the authorization bill except for a possible reversal of the House action in virtually eliminating governors' vetoes over most projects in their states.

A number of Democratic, as well as Republican governors, have complained about a provision under which Director Sargent Shriver would be given authority to override any veto other than that exercised over the location of Job Corps camps.

Dirksen predicted almost solid Republican support for a proposal by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to prevent Shriver from holding both the antipoverty and Peace Corps directorships.

The Senate accepted such an amendment to the Peace Corps bill without a recorded vote but the House refused to agree to it. It seems likely to be defeated if put to a test vote.

The antipoverty program has sparked political conflict over its control in New York City, Chicago, Cleveland and other big cities. It has been attacked in the South on the grounds that it is being used to promote racial integration rather than to aid the needy.

As the measure stands, it provides $150 million more than Johnson originally requested but $250 million less than the House voted previously.

Action Follows Two Nights Of Worst Rioting In History Of City

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner Saturday ordered 2,000 National Guardsmen to go on active duty in Chicago where the worst rioting in 12 years erupted the last two nights.

The troops were sent to various Chicago armories on a standby alert in case they are needed.

The guardsmen were sent at the request of Police Supt. O. W. Wilson. Kerner said in a statement that Wilson indicated he is confident that Chicago police can handle the situation but "indicated it would be valuable to have the National Guardsmen available for possible emergency duty."

Kerner also said state police commanders of nearby districts in Elgin, Des Plaines, Blue Island and Joliet have been alerted for possible duty in Chicago.

The national guardsmen were ordered in as civil rights leaders spoke out in opposition to the riots which have resulted in 123 arrests and injury to 67 persons the last two nights.

The disorders were touched off when a 20-year-old Negro woman was accidentally killed by a fire truck in a West Side Negro neighborhood Thursday night.

Police made no estimate of the loss caused by smashed store windows, car windows, and store looting.

The violence reached its peak Friday night when more than 150 policemen battled an angry mob of several hundred Negroes up and down an eight-block stretch of Pulaski Road in the Garfield Park district. Most of the injuries were caused by flying bricks, stones and bottles "in the melee, which lasted more than seven hours."

Several small fires and numerous false alarms kept fire trucks coursing through the area with sirens screaming. Police reported some shots were fired at them but none was hit by bullets. Eighteen policemen and 42 civilians, including several white persons who were motoring through the area, were injured.

The rioters also hurled bricks at cars driven by Negroes and, from an overpass indiscriminately, pelted cars moving below on Eisenhower Expressway.

Weather Delays Search For Man In Tiny Sailboat

FALMOUTH, England (AP)—Heavy mist and low clouds Saturday forced the Royal Air Force (RAF) to postpone its search for an American newsman missing in an attempt to cross the Atlantic in a tiny sailboat.

Robert Manry, of Cleveland, Ohio, and his 13½ foot craft, the Tinkerbell, have been unsighted since Monday when they were 287 miles off the southwest coast of England.

The RAF said it will send out patrol planes Sunday, weather permitting, to search for Manry. Fears for his safety mounted in this English Channel port, goal of his 3,200-mile adventure.

But despite the anxiety, preparations went ahead here to give the 48-year-old newsman a rousing reception. Crowds have been gathering all week.

There was still no word from Manry's wife, Virginia, who went out two days ago in a trawler in an effort to find her husband. Their two children stayed behind here in Falmouth.

The Starlet Strutters Petites Championship honors in the Aberdeen-Angus steer competition of the Junior Livestock Show at the Illinois State Fair Saturday were won by Joe Worthington, 15, of Pontiac.

There were 380 steers competing for the grand championship of all breeds.

Saturday the second day of the 10-day agricultural show, was dedicated to labor and breeders drew star billing.

Sunday is Veterans' Day when highlights will be drum and bugle corps contests.

Myra Lee Peak of Newhouse was winner of the pigtail contest Saturday while Elizabeth Rider of Emdem took ponytail honors. Both girls hairstyles measured 37 inches.

Top honors in the Acapella Vocal Show were captured by a barbershop quartet from Charleston called The Majors.

The Casual-Teen of Bloomington were the winning folk singers.

'Bread Tax' Talk May Deal Johnson Legislative Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—They're talking "bread tax" on Capitol Hill and in that talk may lie the seeds of President Johnson's first big legislative defeat of the year.

To supporters of the administration's farm bill, which goes before the House Tuesday, the talk is "poppycock"—"as phony as a $3 bill," says California Democrat B. F. Sisk.

But opponents of the measure say the talk is a statement of fact, that its wheat provision will lead to higher bread prices, a burden especially to the poor—"a war on poverty in reverse," Illinois Republican Paul Findley calls it.

While the talk circulates, while Findley uses a milk collar borrowed from a neighbor to charge the rich are being treated

Hopes Brighter For End To Greek Political Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Two of George Papandreou's top lieutenants deserted him Saturday in a move that could open the way for solution of Greece's grave political crisis.

The former premier, fired by King Constantine 30 days ago, failed in a last-minute effort to mollify the two, reportedly angered by his sharp words to the monarch two nights ago.

With Constantine apparently at a dead end in trying to solve the crisis, former Deputy Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos and former Interior Minister Elias Tsirimokos announced they would go to the Parliament secretariat Monday and "deposit a formal declaration disassociating" themselves from Papandreou.

Stephanopoulos, leader of a right wing of Papandreou's Center Union party, and Tsirimokos, leader of a leftist faction, claim the backing of 25 to 30 of the 145 Center Union deputies who had been loyal to Papandreou up to now.

If Stephanopoulos and Tsirimokos keep their backers in line, Papandreou's opponents would be able to muster a parliamentary majority behind a compromise premier for the first time since the crisis erupted.

Savas Papapollitis, a third Center Union leader, with 7 to 10 deputies behind him, also was reported planning to desert Papandreou.

Papapollitis met with Stephanopoulos and Tsirimokos on Saturday but later declined to join them in the parliamentary split.

Political circles took it for granted that Stephanopoulos and Tsirimokos probably would be the king's choice for premier.

"This must raise the price of bread because the only way the additional cost of the certificate can be shifted is to the consumer and I can't see less than a 2-cents-a-loaf rise," Quie added.

What Quie intends to do is to try to amend the bill so the 50-cent increase is paid out of the Treasury. Government income is graduated, he reasons; poor people pay considerably less in taxes than those better off.

Findley, who is opposed to the entire bill, argues that Congress is playing with political dynamite. Waving his borrowed milk collar before the Rules Committee last Tuesday, he noted that Congress lifted the excise tax on luxury items and said:

ed better than the poor by Congress, while the bankers' lobby locks horns with the wheat growers' lobby, there is talk backstage of a compromise that could keep the President's batting record on big bills at 1.000.

In broad outline, it would raise the price level at which the government could resell surplus grain, thereby curbing the competition the government poses to private grain dealers.

The second part of the compromise would be retention in the main of the controversial wheat section.

The result, friends of the bill hope, would be attraction of Midwest Republicans to make up for the big city Democrats who are at odds with the White House on the bread issue.

There would be Democratic defections is a cinch. Rep. James J. Delaney, a New York City Democrat, told a reporter his Northern colleagues will find it almost impossible to support legislation leading to a bread price rise.

The cause of all this stir is a proposed 50-cent increase—from 75 cents to $1.25—in the cost of certificates millers now buy along with each bushel of domestic wheat they buy from growers.

Rep. Albert Quie, a Minnesota Republican who will lead the attack on this provision, says "It's very definitely fair to call this a bread tax." For one thing, he said in an interview, the government collects the certificate payments, then distributes proceeds to the wheat farmers.

"This must raise the price of bread because the only way the additional cost of the certificate can be shifted is to the consumer and I can't see less than a 2-cents-a-loaf rise," Quie added.

What Quie intends to do is to try to amend the bill so the 50-cent increase is paid out of the Treasury. Government income is graduated, he reasons; poor people pay considerably less in taxes than those better off.

15 Youngsters Take Advantage Of "Headstart"

"Operation Headstart," a new federally-encouraged summer pre-school program, is successful in filling learning-gaps for 15 Jacksonville children, according to Ivan K. Garrison, director of special services for School District 117.

Speaking to the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club Thursday noon, Garrison said that the Jacksonville operation of "Headstart" was one of 21 at the time of the school board's original application to federal authorities. The program seeks to give advance education to pre-school children and to involve parents in the program whenever possible, he said.

The weekday morning program, under the direction of William R. Walsh, is providing a form of summer school education for children who will begin school for the first time in September.

With an assistant director, two student helpers, and several volunteers, Mr. Walsh is coordinating a pre-school program at Jefferson Elementary School which provides language and speech instruction, readings, walking trips, three bus tours, elementary mathematics, coordinating exercises, music appreciation, and both individual and social awareness programs.

According to Garrison, it is hoped that additional time can be spent on safety education, pedestrian and traffic instruction, supervised recreation, and the encouragement of extra-curricular organizations such as Scouts and 4-H.

Married Fifty Years

PITTSFIELD—The Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Smith was observed Sunday, August 8th with an open house in the party room of the Perry Wagon Wheel Cafe.

Over 250 guests called during the afternoon. Assisting with the arrangements were Mrs. J. R. Vose, Mrs. Robert Fagan and Mrs. Ray B. Smith, nieces of Mrs. Smith. Also assisting were Marcia Vose, Karla Fagan, Katherine Smith and Patricia Smith. Miss Iva Smith was in charge of registration and Mrs. Oliver Fagan in charge of gifts. Both are sisters of Mrs. Smith.

Until his retirement Mr. Smith worked for the Griggsville Bank. Earlier he was employed at the Farmer's State Bank in Pittsfield. The Smiths have always lived in Perry, in a home they had built in 1915 the year they were married.

HERE'S HOW TO TURN YOUR "GOOD INTENTIONS" INTO A GOOD SAVINGS ACCOUNT

It's hard to save money nowadays. Yet, everyone needs and wants some money in the bank.

The secret is to put something aside on a regular basis. But unless you put the money in the bank first, something always comes along to upset your savings plan.

Now Elliott State Bank offers you an automatic savings service. You can have any amount you wish transferred automatically from your checking account to your savings account each month. It's a sure way to "pay yourself first" — to take care of your savings before you spend the money on other things.

You don't have to save a big amount each month. In savings, it's persistency that pays — and pays off!

And your savings grow faster at Elliott because you'll be earning the highest bank interest in our area — 3½% daily interest, compounded four times a year.

SPIRITUAL RETREAT TOPIC FOR WHITE HALL WOMEN

WHITE HALL — The August meeting of the United Presbyterian Women's organization was held Monday afternoon at the church with 18 attending. The meeting was opened with prayer and meditation by Mrs. L. V. Kinser.

During the business meeting, information was given about the Presbyterian Spiritual Retreat to be held at the Salem church. Mrs. A. R. McConathy presented the missionaries listed in the Year Book of Prayer, and offered a prayer in their behalf.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin was presented by Mrs. Geo. Livingstone, and a memorial service was held for Mrs. Carrie Worcester, who passed away on July 25, conducted by Mrs. Kinser. Mrs. Ernest Roodhouse, Mrs. Mary E. Smith, and Mrs. Russell Roodhouse.

Refreshments were served by Miss Margaret Kinison and Miss Edith Chapin during the social hour.

30 At Story Hour
Thirty children attended the Story Hour held each Wednesday afternoon during July at the Township Library, a project sponsored by the Roodhouse-White Hall Junior Women's Club.

Mrs. Ronald Early served as reader assisted by Mrs. Joseph Conrad, Mrs. Richard Jakobi, Mrs. James Vinyard, Mrs. Gary Fitzjarrrell, Mrs. Dale Coates, Mrs. Paul Fansler and Mrs. Wm. Goodall.

Cup cakes were served as refreshments at the close of each story hour.

Organoleptic Discusses Job

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dan Knopf leaned over the sink, wiggled his mouth and let fly with about one ounce of bourbon and water.

Then he concentrated.

After all, Knopf is one of the best organoleptic analysts in the business. And he knows that $200,000 worth of bourbon is riding on that spit.

After the chemical and electronic tests are run, his tongue makes the final judgment on 300 barrels of his employer's whiskey.

As fascinating and simple as tasting bourbon may sound, not everybody measures up.

"This is just a guess," he said, "but I would estimate that 60 per cent of the chemists I run across I could train to be tasters."

Knopf said the job requires a memory for taste, about two years' training and an analytical mind. He seldom tastes in the afternoon and never after coffee. Coffee makes the bourbon taste wonderful. Afternoon dulls the sense of taste.

Other than those restrictions, a chemist-taster can do almost anything: chew gum, wear perfume or after shave lotion, smoke — preferably only in the afternoon — or eat, but not highly seasoned foods.

The key to success is the taste memory. You've got it or you haven't got it.

"It isn't that they don't taste, they taste many things," Knopf said of the failures. "They just don't remember."

Knopf said it takes two years to learn the "chamber of horrors" which can crop up in whisky.

Even when a man becomes a senior taster, he never goes it alone. That down-turned thumb means too much in dollars and cents for the company to trust one man's judgment.

But two thumbs down can mean the drain for a load of bourbon though the company likes to salvage as much as possible.

Most of the tasters are light drinkers. One man who worked as a taster for a few years back was a non-drinker. Knopf, a 13-year veteran, is an elder and a deacon at his church.

Manchester Unit Meets, Approves Budget For Year

MANCHESTER — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the local Methodist Church met Tuesday evening at the church center. The meeting opened with silent prayer. The lesson, "Sharing Basic Freedoms," was given by Mrs. Lee Spradlin assisted by Mrs. Charles Travis. A discussion period followed with all present taking part.

Mrs. Dee Bell, chairman of the program committee, presented an outline of programs for the coming year. Mrs. Robert Lawson, chairman of the finance committee, submitted a budget for the coming year which was accepted by the society.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Lloyd McNeese. The society received an invitation from the Murrayville society to be their guests on September 8 to help celebrate the 25th anniversary of W.S.C.S.

A report was given by Mrs. James Gordon, Mrs. Betty Lawson and Mrs. Dee Bell on the work shop seminar they attended at Bluffs recently.

A drive for new members will be observed in September. Each member will bring a guest to the September meeting.

Several money-making ideas were presented and the group voted plans for a rummage sale September 25 with Mrs. Robert Lawson as chairman. Mrs. Dee Bell will start a gypsy basket in the near future as a money-making project.

A committee was named to plan a church library. Mrs. James Gordon is chairman and Mrs. Albert Powers and Mrs. Dee Bell will work with her. Ten members and one guest, Mrs. Henry Green, were present. Mrs. James Gordon gave the closing prayer. Mrs. Charles Travis served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

CRANSHAW MADE A LIST OF ALL THE THINGS HE WANTED TO ENJOY ON HIS TWO WEEKS OFF

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The other day Rock Hudson got into a jet airliner and flew to Lake Tahoe and back while movie scenes were shot on board.

Usually, airplane scenes are done on a sound stage with mock-ups of plane interiors. Not so with director John Frankenheimer.

"I don't know whether authenticity like this means anything to the audience but it means a lot to me," says Frankenheimer.

In the movie, "Seconds," Rock plays a disfigured man who, by plastic surgery, makes himself look like Rock Hudson — and starts life anew.

The jet scene involves a stewardess talking with Rock who suddenly jumps up and runs to the lavatory.

"It's a key dramatic point in the story," says Frankenheimer. "I believe Rock felt it better by doing it in actual flight."

Frankenheimer is a stickler for realism. When he made "The Train" with Burt Lancaster, he shot everything on actual locale in Paris. In "The Young Savages," a story about Puerto Rican gangs in Spanish Harlem, Frankenheimer used real street fighters.

Rock likes the idea of doing scenes authentically.

"It's true, you really feel a scene more in its actual locale. And amazingly, we saved time and money. The airplane stuff was originally scheduled for two days. We did everything in less than one."

Rock is counting costs. He is producing the film.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stanley Kramer tossed the fanciest party in years this week for the premiere of his "Ship of Fools."

More than 1,000 guests gathered around a hotel pool where a replica of the movie ship floated.

More than 800 magnums of champagne were consumed.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comic Jackie Gayle, like the rest of his brethren, is going into acting.

"I'm on the road 40 weeks a year," he says. "I have a dangerous act."

"I play towns where the main excitement is going down to the J.C. Penney Co. and watching them unload the truck."

"A comic on a stage is basically an actor," he says. "You say lines that are supposed to be funny. If they come out tragic, that means you're a lousy actor." HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Horatio Alger stories never die. They just become up-dated.

Take the story of how Harry Landers got started as an actor. Landers plays the role of Dr. Ted Hoffman, Vince Edwards' colleague on "Ben Casey."

Back in the Forties, Bette Davis read in the papers about a World War II hero named Landers. She decided to look him up and found him working as a grip on a movie set.

"Is there anything I can do for you?" she asked.

Landers said he would like to work as an extra. Miss Davis not only got him the work but paid his initiation fees into the Screen Actors Guild.

Coon Hound Foils Burglary Attempt

JERSEYVILLE — Daylight burglars ran into unexpected trouble at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gardner Wednesday when one of the Gardners' black and tan hounds broke his chain collar in an attempt to get at the thieves and apparently was successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner operate the Little White House Cafe on South State Street and make their home in a dwelling on a farm several miles northeast of Jerseyville. Gardner is interested in hunting and owns four black and tan coon hounds.

During the daytime when Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are at work in Jerseyville, the hounds are kept chained at the couple's residence in the country.

When Mrs. Gardner returned home Wednesday afternoon from her work at the Little White House Cafe, she discovered that the home had been entered and ransacked. The tool shed where Gardner keeps his tools had been entered. The intruder picked up a box of tools and apparently started for their car parked along the road in front of the dwelling house yard.

About that time, a three year old hound named King snapped loose from his chain and collar and attacked. The subject carrying the box of tools began to throw the contents of the box, piece by piece at the hound in the effort to ward off the dog leaping at him.

Finally, the tool thief apparently dropped everything and sought the security of his motor vehicle. With the hound loose in the yard, there was no from her work at the Little attempt to resume the breakin

of the house or tool shed or to retrieve the tools that were scattered about the yard on the way from the shed to the car.

"I am convinced," stated Gardner, "that King bit the tool thief."

Teachers Challenged To Stimulate Productive Thinking In Students

A new concern for the nonconformist individual who because "he hears a different drum" is often out of step with his classmates in school, his talents overlooked and neglected, is apparent in a study sponsored by the National Education Association and the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

Published as a 306-page volume titled "Productive Thinking in Education," the report is based on two national conferences which brought together leading scholars in the fields of psychology and curriculum development to examine current research having to do with productive thinking, new definitions of what intelligence is, creativity, and newly developed curriculums, particularly in science and mathematics. Conferences were held under the aegis of the NEA's Project on the Academically Talented Student, now in its sixth year.

Outcome was a challenge to educators to venture on new paths, casting aside the old conception of intelligence as something that is a fixed attribute one is born with, and recognizing that intelligence has many aspects not measured by the conventional IQ tests. It is now becoming recognized that intelligence not only encompasses many talents beyond the scope of the IQ, but that intelligence is malleable, and can grow and flourish, or wither and die, depending on whether it is nurtured or deprived of opportunities for growth.

In this concept there are tremendous implications for the education both of the culturally deprived, for whom the usual school experience provides little nourishment and less motivation and for the gifted oddballs whose exceptional talents are apt to be overlooked in school because they function outside the normal pattern.

An indication of the magnitude of this new problem for educators is the evidence produced by E. Paul Torrance, director of the bureau of educational research, University of Minnesota, who devised a test for identifying creative thinkers. Torrance found that 70 percent of the top 20 percent in the creative group, couldn't make the top 20 percent in conventional tests for intelligence.

A by-product of the overall study was evidence produced by J. P. Guilford, University of Southern California psychologist, which calls into question the validity of the so-called "brainstorming" technique popularized by Madison Avenue thinkers a few years ago. In this process a group is invited to dream up all sorts of solutions to a problem, from the routine to the bizarre, and none of the group is to be restrained no matter how wild his idea may appear on the surface. The theory was that out of all this might come a truly original idea that otherwise might have been overlooked. But Guilford presented evidence that evaluation of ideas—thinking before giving expression to them—was more effective in screening out the idea that didn't hold water than it was in suppressing the idea that presented something worthwhile.

Another contribution of Guilford to the study was his rehabilitation of the old theory—in disrepute in recent years—that there is such a thing as transfer learning—that material learned in one context can be used in another context in solving a new problem. That was the theory advanced for instance, when students used to object to studying Caesar or Cicero. In response to their query, "What good will it do me?" the usual response was that it would train their minds, give them practice in solving problems. Now the thinking has come full circle. Once scorned as nonsense, that response has become again respectable. In fact, Miriam L. Goldberg, associate professor of Teachers College, Columbia University, who attempts in a final chapter to sum up the thinking of the conferences, says the concept of transfer in learning became "the very center" of how the development of productive thinking was viewed at the conferences.

David P. Ausubel, professor of educational psychology, University of Illinois, presented impressive evidence that a deprived environment which is the lot of many children in urban and rural slums, retards the development of intelligence and that this retardation, if the environmental deprivation continues long enough, may become irreversible. Ausubel cited studies, however, which demonstrated that intensive pre-school training, enriching the environment, not only tends to raise the intelligence level of the culturally deprived, but even of those who are born with mental retardation.

Ausubel argued the imperative necessity of dealing with these problems early in the life of the child. Intelligence grows on the basis of existing actualized capacity, he suggested, not on the basis of an unrealized or undeveloped capacity. Therefore, the child who has an existing deficit in intelligence development due to prior deprivation in environment, is less able to profit from improvement in his environment—the deficit tends to cumulative increase and permanent retardation. The older they are, the less they can be helped.

The editors, paraphrasing poet John Donne, advise all concerned to send not to see "for whom the school bell tolls, it tolls for thee. It tolls for the business man who is threatened by an atmosphere which could produce greater creative ideas within his own organization; it tolls for the labor leader who has not allowed open discussion and free exchange of ideas on important issues within his membership ranks; it tolls for the school administrator who for sake of management efficiency will not permit the noisy, chaotic, but exciting environment that is the prerequisite for productive thought; and it tolls for the college professor who believes that even creativity can be taught through an unimaginative lecture, presented somewhat autocratically."

Chinese Supper A Prelude To AAUW Program

A Chinese supper was enjoyed in the oriental garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crawford Sr., Sunday evening, August 8, by members of the retiring and the newly-selected boards of the Jacksonville Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The supper served as a pleasant introduction to the AAUW program topic "Revolution in Modern China" chosen for study during the next two years.

Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, the retiring president, were hostesses and planned the supper with particular attention to the many details of menu, chop sticks, tea, fortune cookies and interesting accessories.

Shown above at left are Mrs. Lawrence Crawford greeting a guest. At right Mrs. Engelbach, past president, and Mrs. Olson, new president, and Susan Crawford in Chinese costume admire a stone Chinese lamp in the garden. Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Manlove, with chop sticks in hand, are seen at the supper.

Mrs. Engelbach presented the program showing pictures taken on Taiwan during her tour of the Far East last summer. Members of the AAUW will use other programs of films, discussions, panels by specialists, and study of recommended readings in an effort to understand China's past as background to present-day problems. According to Mrs. L. d. Schertz, of the professional staff of the national AAUW, modern China is taken as beginning in 1842, when China first clashed with the Western powers, and the processes began of interaction, reaction, conformation and change, which historians call revolution.

Attending the supper and program were Mrs. Irving Olson, the new president and Mr. Olson, Dr. and Mrs. L. Vernon Caine, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pratt, Mrs. Charles Bowen, Miss Marguerite Schoedsack, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Bailey, Mrs. John Hill, Miss Emma Mae Leonhard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wadsworth Applebee, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKleroy, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Manlove, the Rev. and Mrs. Darwin Clupper, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Savage, Miss Zoe Marshall, Dr. and Mrs. Engelbach and Mr. and Mrs. Crawford.

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?

There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.

The hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.

In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth.

The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis, it operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Demand for butcher hogs was somewhat improved this week and with supplies still running small, top prices every day were well above a week ago. For last week they were steady to 50 cents higher.

On three of the five days peak prices reached $25.75 but at mid-week they went for only a very few closely sorted offerings. However, on Friday it was paid rather freely. The top prices on the other two days were $25.50 compared with last week's best of $25.35.

Offerings for both weeks amounted to 19,000 head. The average price for the week was estimated at $24.95 compared with $24.58 last week and $16.68 a year ago.

Slaughter steers were steady to 50 cents higher at the close with a few prime grade bringing a top of $29.50, highest in about seven weeks. Cattle slaughter under federal inspection was believed to have been more active than last week and accounted for some of the firmness. The price of all steer grades was believed to have averaged $27 for the week, up from $26.71 last week. It compared with $24.80 a year ago.

Spring slaughter lambs closed mostly 50 cents higher. Buyers noted an increase of $1 a hundredweight for carcasses at wholesale outlets.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed last week with a sharp gain that put it well ahead for the period.

It had been lethargic until a strong rally developed on Friday.

Brokers attributed the big one-day advance to an accumulation of developments such as high corporate earnings, dividend increases, increased defense spending, record automobile production and sales and a boom in color television.

The aircrafts, airlines and motors were standout performers during the week. The advance spread from the blue chip issues to the secondary and cheaper stocks.

Foreign copper slipped on news of a move in the Chilean Senate to nationalize the copper industry in Chile.

The Associated Press 60-stock average gained 2.3 to 330.9 for the week. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.31 to 898.82.

Of 1,525 issues traded, 892 advanced and 467 declined. There were 105 new 1965 highs and 59 new lows.

Volume for the week rose to 24,853,290 from 22,817,990 a week ago and 19,324,510 a year ago. Aircrafts and airlines registered good gains on Monday and Tuesday.

Brokers said investors were encouraged by a report that economists were becoming more optimistic about the business outlook because of defense demands.

Prices rose from the start on Friday and closed at their best levels of the day. The advance was broad with 666 issues advancing against 386 declines.

International financial problems pushed prices of U.S. Treasury bonds down for the third straight week to lows for the year.

Corporate bond prices were mostly unchanged while municipal bond prices were a bit stronger.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $48,395 million, compared with $50.98 million a week ago.

'BREAD TAX' TALK MAY DEAL JOHNSON LEGISLATIVE DEFEAT

The author of the wheat section is Rep. Graham Purcell, a Texas Democrat who told a reporter: "This is not a bread tax technically because the government is not intending to derive any income from it."

Purcell figures the wheat provision would increase the cost of bread ingredients seven-tenths of one cent. But he argues that the price of bread is influenced more by such costs as labor and equipment.

4,501 ARRESTED FOR POLITICAL CRIMES

BERLIN (AP)—The Privately maintained West Berlin Association of Free Jurists reports that in the four years since the Berlin wall was erected 4,501 East Germans and East Berliners were arrested for political crimes — mostly escape or trying to escape or helping others escape to the West. It said 2,531 of those arrested were punished and that five got sentences.

NEGROES RESUME RIOTING IN L.A.

"For every call we answer there may be hundreds we can't take care of. There's a pall of smoke lying over South Los Angeles even up past City Hall, and we're helpless."

An Associated Press survey of hotels and motels indicated that there was an abnormal amount of checkouts and cancellations of reservations. But some hostilities reported a registration increase—from people who wanted to get out of the riot area.

The rioting, which broke out Wednesday night when a white officer arrested a Negro on drunken driving charges, was the worst in Los Angeles history.

Action Follows Two Nights Of Worst Rioting

Raby said he is "very disturbed" at the violence and does not believe anything constructive can result from it.

Police Chief William H. Parker in a television appearance strongly attacked what he called "demagogic... pseudo-leaders of the Negro community who can't lead at all."

He said Negroes are trying to blame police for rioting—"a vicious canard."

Negro leaders, he said, are trying "to relieve the Negro people of any responsibility in this situation."

He added: "We can't overcome their tremendous wave of propaganda."

The National Guard went into action Friday night. Acting Gov. Glenn M. Anderson declared Los Angeles a disaster area. County Sheriff Peter Pitchess called for additional law officers from five adjacent counties and neighboring cities.

Ten thousand guardsmen—all available in the state—have already been committed. Reserves were thrown into the battle against renewed rioting Saturday.

Anderson asked that the federal government hold up a battalion of Marine reservists waiting at nearby Long Beach to go to a summer encampment at Camp Pendleton, Calif. He said they may be needed here.

Police jailed 1,003 rioters—all but 186 of them adults—Friday night and Saturday. All were Negroes. Most were charged with looting.

In the past 24 hours 558 persons—including 59 policemen, 16 firemen and two guardsmen—were injured.

Terror-stricken residents in white sections adjacent to the riot-swept Negro areas phoned police begging for protection as radio and television newscasts told of spreading violence.

The Federal Aviation Agency warned commercial and private pilots to avoid the embattled area after there were reports from the ground of Negro rioters firing rifles at airliners overhead.

By early afternoon the mob terror had spread from the Watts area along Central Avenue—the Los Angeles equivalent of New York's Harlem—to the Harbor Freeway, a major north-south artery almost two miles away.

Sporadic outbursts of violence came in white districts nearby. Police in Inglewood, at the west end of the Negro belt, informed residents via television: "You will be given all protection."

A football game, a circus and countless gatherings were postponed or canceled because motorists were afraid to enter the danger zones.

The mercury rose to 94 Saturday. Temperatures have been over 90 in Los Angeles since last Sunday.

Police Chief William Parker said earlier Saturday that the situation was still out of control, no control was near, and that:

"The only way we're going to stop this thing is to arrest, arrest, arrest."

One of the dead men was a white sheriff's deputy slain by looters. A white fireman died fighting a fire, and another white man was shot to death.

Police said nearly all the other fatalities were Negroes killed by police guns or guardsmen.

President Johnson, in offering aid in battling this nation's worst racially-triggered riots in recent history, denounced "killing, rioting and looting."

Scott Farm Sells For $475 An Acre
A 145-acre Scott County farm, located one mile southeast of Naples, part of the estate of the late Florence Albers, brought $475 per acre when sold at public auction in Winchester Saturday afternoon.

The farm, including a five-room house, barn, garage and various farm buildings, was purchased by G. O. Head for a total of $68,875.

Elmer Middendorf was auctioneer. Hutchens and Mann were attorneys for the estate.

POLICE ARREST PAIR ON DRUNKEN DRIVING, DISORDERLY CHARGES
A Jacksonville man is being held in city jail Saturday night on $250 bond after being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Howard McGassen, 32, of 604 E. Lafayette, was apprehended by city police about four p.m. Saturday and charged with the offense while driving on North Main Street in the city.

A second man, Jesse Lawson, 319 E. Washington, was also arrested at the scene for protesting the apprehension of McGassen. Lawson was charged with disorderly conduct and was later released on $200 bond.

Both men are scheduled to appear in Magistrate Court on Monday.

ENLISTMENTS OF NAVY, MARINE MEN EXTENDED

The immediate impact will be on about 25,000 Navy men and 12,000 Marines whose normal release from service would have come between now and the beginning of next year.

However, the order will continue to affect others whose enlistments expire after next January, meaning that each of them will have four months added to his service.

Navy and Marine officers are affected, but face even longer extended duty. The order says of them that "approval of requests for voluntary retirement may be withheld for a period of 12 months."

But in the case of both enlisted and officer personnel Navy and Marines will take into consideration hardship cases.

Using the draft and counting on a spurt in volunteer enlistments—spurred by the threat of the draft—the Navy expects it will increase its strength 25,000 by January. The Marine Corps estimates a 12,000 increase by then.

The Navy's authority to extend enlistments is a carryover from the Korean War. The Army and Air Force do not have such authority and would need congressional approval to take any similar step.

Pentagon spokesmen said Saturday the latter two services have no present plans to ask such authority.

Edward Marciniak, executive director of the city's Human Relations Commission, also appealed for residents of the neighborhood to remain off the streets.

He said he does not believe the rioting is part of the general civil rights movement but the "result of hot tempers mixed with hot weather."

Chicago has been in the grip of 90-degree August heat for several days.

Mayor Richard Daley and Police Superintendent O.W. Wilson met with several unidentified persons in the mayor's office during the day to map strategy for ending the violence.

The fire department has suspended three firemen involved in the fatal accident. Seventeen Negro firemen have been assigned to the fire station.

Bond was set at $100 for persons arrested on disorderly conduct charges and at $400 for those charged with resisting arrest or carrying weapons. The cases were continued and those unable to make bond were held in the County Jail.

Weekend days off were canceled for all policemen in the Fillmore district and a force of 165 was assigned to patrol the area at night. Reserves were on standby at the district station and in surrounding districts.

Leo Goltz, department store manager and chairman of the Garfield Park Chamber of Commerce, said neighborhood leaders blamed outsiders for the violence.

A similar view that violence was caused by non-residents of the neighborhood was expressed by August Mathews, executive vice president of the Community Council and executive director of the Off the Street Boys Clubs.

Ollie Henkel Of Carrollton Dies Saturday
CARROLLTON — Mrs. Ollie Henkel, 75, of Carrollton died Saturday morning at Carlinville area hospital in Carlinville where she had been a patient for a week.

FAN NABS CHAMPS TAIL
AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—Steve Torgerson's grand champion bull at the state shorthorn cattle show was being led back to his stall Friday when he swished his tail into a big electric fan and lost six inches of his fly-chaser.

AT INTERSECTION
No injuries were reported Saturday afternoon following a minor accident at the intersection of North Church and West Court shortly after two o'clock.

The two-car mishap occurred when an auto driven by Kenneth R. DeFratres, RR 1, Jacksonville, collided with a second vehicle operated by David J. Strawn, RR 1, Alexander. Neither car was damaged extensively.

Police reported that both cars were proceeding straight ahead at the time of impact. The DeFratres auto was southbound on Church, while the Strawn car was headed east on Court.

No tickets were issued as a result of the accident.

Imposter Fools Parish, Steals Priest's Car

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A man who posed as a vacationing Episcopal priest from Elmira, N.Y., fooled an Evanston parish for more than a month and then stole a car belonging to one of the parish priests.

Evanston police said Saturday the imposter posed as Father Richard Tuttle Loring, curate of Grace Church in Elmira, N.Y., when he presented himself to the curate of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Evanston.

Saying he was on vacation, the imposter obtained a post as a temporary priest at St. Luke's early in July.

The Rev. Perry Smith, curate of St. Luke's, said such vacation activity is a common thing among priests.

"He exhibited a remarkable knowledge of the Episcopal Church," Father Smith said. "We did wonder why he said Mass so badly," added Father Smith. "Now we know."

The imposter fled Evanston Wednesday night, police said, when a priest who knew the real Father Loring began checking on the man.

He disappeared with an automobile he had borrowed earlier from the Rev. W.T. St. John Brown, rector of St. Luke's.

The Rev. Frank Griswold, curate of the Church of the Redeemer in Bryn Mawr, Pa., became suspicious when he met the imposter and remarked that he looked nothing like the Father Loring he knew.

The man reportedly told Father Griswold that he must be thinking of a cousin.

Father Griswold subsequently checked a church directory and could find no second Loring. He called Elmira and talked to the real Father Loring, who complained that he had been receiving bills for clerical garb he hadn't purchased.

Before the imposter could be confronted, however, he had fled.

Police said the only charge they are seeking him for is car theft.

Corrective Measures At Park Pool

Leaks in the pipes have been evident for several years but particularly the last three years. Five different inlet pipes have broken either at the wall or the main feed line. The problem is that after the pipe is patched, it will break loose somewhere else later on.

The pipes were welded and patched this spring. A new feed pipe was added along the bottom of the deep end to help promote better circulation and chlorination.

The pool was still losing water on opening day this year, but nothing like it had previously. No problems in keeping the water at the top level of the overflow gutters, necessary for clean water, have existed this year.

The water bill for the pool has increased from about $890 in 1961 to more than $2,000 in each of the past three summers, not including this summer. The water bill for the swimming pool should be less than $2,000 this summer according to Mr. Keller.

One Water Meter
There is only one water meter at the park, so it is rather difficult to determine how much is being used by the pool and how much by the golf course and the rest of the park.

Someone suggested that two or three separate meters be installed in the future. The entire water bill for the park is assessed to the swimming pool and has been for some time.

Several repairs have been made to the pool this year, prior to opening, so that water leaks could be eliminated or slowed down.

Mr. Keller said it would cost between $70,000 and $100,000 to fix the pool properly and conform to state specifications, and there would be no guarantee how long it would hold together.</

Curtis 6 Up In City Golf Play

Bockemeier, Cisne Second, Club Leads

By Sandy Petersen
Defending champion Howard Curtis fired an even-par 66 Saturday afternoon, in third round play of the City Golf Championship, to move six-strokes up on the field going into today's final round.

Combining his 66 with previous cards of identical 69's, Curtis has a 54-hole total of 204. Two youngsters, Jim Cisne, 16, and Steve Bockemeier, 17, presently hold down the second slot with 210's.

Cisne recorded the best round of the day with his 34-31-65. The 31 on the back-nine also tied for low honors for an individual round, as Curtis also accomplished the feat on the front-side.

Team competition still remains close after the third round as the Country Club representatives presently hold a slim six-stroke lead over the Nichols Park entrants. The Nichols Park team has won the team trophy in the last four outings of the 44 year classic.

Speed Weekend Taking Shape For State Fair

State Fairgrounds, Springfield — The biggest speed weekend in history for the Illinois State Fair began taking shape today when officials announced that more than 20 entries had been received for the United States Auto Club 100-mile Tony Bettenhausen Memorial Race slated for 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 21.

Another 25 are listed for the 100-mile Allen Crowe Memorial Late-Model Stock Car Race the day before at 3 p.m. Friday, Aug. 20. Time trials for both races are scheduled for 12:30 p.m.

The third day of the speed program, Sunday, Aug. 22, will feature the 50-mile National Championship American Motorcycle Association's National Championship Race.

A quartet of top drivers, A. J. Foyt, Parnelli Jones, Jim McElreath and Mario Andretti, head the big field in the championship race on Saturday. Two other favorites, Don Branson, Champaign, and Jim Hurtubise, North Tonawanda, N. Y., are also in the field.

Foyt, of Houston, Texas, won the Springfield race, the Indy race and USAC point championship last year and will be back home "on the dirt" in the Springfield event. Jones was second at Indy this year to Jim Clark. But most of the big car pilots have been busy on asphalt track this year running the new rear-engine machines. They'll be back in the front engine Offenhausers in the State Fair race, because the low-slung rear-engine racers simply can't run on the dirt.

McElreath, who won last Sunday's race at Langhorne, and Andretti are the two hot drivers to date this season. It was McElreath's second win on the championship trail, while Andretti has won once and finished high most of the other times. Andretti had 1,960 points to McElreath's 1,035 before the Langhorne event. Andretti finished fourth and so is still in front.

Stock car drivers can expect some competition from the drivers of the big cars. Several big car pilots expect to "grab a ride" for the stock event.

The two races are memorials to a pair of Illinois drivers who lost their lives in racing accidents. Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park and Allen Crowe of Springfield.

A special trophy will be presented to Hurtubise before the start of the Allen Crowe Memorial Stock Car event Aug. 20 by Crowe's widow, Jonita. The trophy is being furnished by the Capital Area Racing Sponsors (CARS) Inc., the auto race fan club of Springfield. Hurtubise, who was severely burned last year at Milwaukee, Wis., in a fiery crash has made a great comeback this season.

Tickets for the Stock Car Race Aug. 20 are available at the fairgrounds ticket office at $4 for box seats and $3 for reserved seats. All box and reserved seats are gone for the big car event, Aug. 21, but bleacher and general admission duets will go on sale the day of the race.

Totals after 54-holes show the club team leading 2220 to 2226. Curtis carded four birdies, 11 pars, two bogies, and one double bogie on the day. Three of his sub-par holes were on the front-nine.

Increases Advantage
The defending champion entered the third round play with a one-stroke advantage over Roy Cooper and two-strokes up on Bockemeier. Cooper, however, ran into trouble at every turn Saturday, and skidded to a 14 over-par 80, leaving him 15 strokes off the pace.

JHS golf coach Jim Buckley, victor in many Nichols Park classics in the past, turned in the most spectacular recovery in the tournament Saturday, when he carded a par three on the third hole.

Buckley's tee shot cleared the water hazard, but kicked left, landing 50 feet off the green in a marshy area. With shoes and socks off, Buckley proceeded into the water, mud and knee-deep weeds. Submerged ankles deep in mud, Buckley wedged the ball to within 10 feet of the cup. Bare-footed, and still covered with mud, Buckley holed the putt for his par.

Curtis opened the front-side with four straight pars, as Cooper quickly fell two-over. Lying off the green and 60 feet short of the pin on the first hole, Curtis' pitch-and-run second shot stopped three feet short of the pin.

Bucky Sullivan, a senior at I.C., gave the small but enthusiastic gallery some added excitement on the hole, when his 40 foot approach putt dropped for a birdie two.

Sullivan also recorded the most improved round of the day with a one-under 32 on the back-nine after carding a 40 on the front-side.

A recent graduate from MacMurray College and enrollee in law school at the University of Illinois in the fall, Curtis ran into trouble on the second hole, as his second shot hit a tree to the left of the green, careened to the left, and landed some 40 feet from the putting surface. A nice recovery and an eight foot putt gave Curtis the par.

Hits More Trouble
Cooper, who had previously recorded rounds of 69 and 70, had further trouble on the fifth when his drive landed under a tree which strangled his backswing for a possible second shot to the green. The tall country club entrant, however, elected to play safe and hit into the middle of the fairway, later accepting a bogey on the hole.

Curtis also had to take a bogey on the fifth when his tee shot landed in the creek, costing the defending champ a penalty stroke.

On the sixth, Curtis moved back to even par after his 12 foot putt for an eagle stopped short of the cup. A tap-in gave him a birdie four on the long par-five hole.

After a par three on the seventh, Curtis charged the pin with his 100-yard approach shot on number eight. The ball hit the flagstick and rolled eight feet past. Curtis promptly sank the putt to go one-under on the front-side.

Another medium-length putt, this time nine feet away, fell for the leader on the ninth green, but again three-putted, carding a double bogey five. The misque left Curtis three-over for the round, and one-over for the day.

After parring the next two holes, Curtis moved back to even-par to stay with his second birdie of the day on number six. Three pars later, Curtis sat in the clubhouse with a 66 and his six-stroke margin over the field.

Putting Trouble
Putting trouble befell the leader on the 12th. Curtis drove the green, but again three-putted, carding a double bogey five. The misque left Curtis three-over for the round, and one-over for the day.

After parring the next two holes, Curtis moved back to even-par to stay with his second birdie of the day on number six. Three pars later, Curtis sat in the clubhouse with a 66 and his six-stroke margin over the field.

Taking The Hard Way

DOUBLE TROUBLE: These two local golfers find themselves with tough lies during the third round of the City Golf Championship at Nichols Park Saturday. Top, Jim Buckley stands a foot in mud in the rough by number three. Buckley chipped beautifully back on the green and sank a nine-foot putt to still get his par three. Bottom, Roy Cooper finds himself with a short backswing after rolling close to a tree on number five. Cooper had to play it short and took a bogey five on the hole. Cooper started the day one stroke behind leader Howard Curtis, but blossomed to an 80 to fall 15 strokes off the pace.

Big Bonfire In Forbes Field? It's Willie Stargell's Lumber

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PITTSBURGH — (NEA) — When Willie Stargell goes on a hitting streak he burns bats to advertise it.

When Willie Stargell goes into a slump, he buries his bats to forget it.

In fact, everything Willie Stargell does is a little different.

"You've got to have some fun," the Pirates' all-star outfielder says with a smile, "because 162 games makes for a long season."

The difference in Willie Stargell was noticeable right from the beginning 21 years ago in the maternity ward of the Earlsboro, Okla., hospital.

The name on the incubator read "Wilver Dornell Stargell."

"I betcha," he says, "there isn't another Wilver no-where in the universe."

This hasn't quite doubled attendance at Forbes Field, although Willie Stargell is gaining quite a following with his long-bat hitting.

Stargell's emergence as one of the real power men in the major leagues didn't surprise him. He predicted it.

Last spring he painted a number "30" on his batting helmet and when someone informed him his uniform number was "30," he smiled and politely explained that the "30" was for the number of home runs he expected to hit this season.

Now it appears that Willie was being modest.

By August, he was number four in home runs in the National League, third in RBI and everyone was predicting he would be in the super-star class within another year.

"Well, now," he says, "I've got to admit this has been one of my goals but when I think of a super-star I think of a Roberto Clemente or a Henry Aaron.

"It will take me at least three more years of consistent performances like this season to reach that level.

"To become a super-star you must be a complete ballplayer, which means you must be a good fielder and a good runner, in addition to being a good hitter."

"I've been working hard on my fielding but my speed is something else. I've got cartilage trouble in one knee (the left) and every time I hit it sliding or chasing a ball, it swells up and must be drained."

"Frankly, it's got me worried, but I'll be doing exercises this winter to strengthen it."

Meanwhile, Wilver Dornell Stargell seems to be making out well enough.

He hasn't buried a bat in months.

BASEBALL CHAMPS AT MURRAYVILLE TO BE HONORED

The Murrayville Tri-County Pony League team has just won the title of undefeated champions of the year.

Parents and friends are sponsoring a basket supper in their honor at 6 p.m. Saturday, August 21 at Nichols Park.

The team will play its first game in the tournament at Franklin on August 23rd against Arenzville. The boys' families and friends are invited to the picnic and tournament. Further information about the tournament or picnic may be obtained from manager Ora Lee Anders or Mrs. Clyde Phillips.

McElwyn K. Key Captures Fair Colt Stakes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — McElwyn K. Key, owned by Paul Burris of Springfield, captured the Illinois State Fair Colt Stakes aged division for trotters from a field of 11 rivals to highlight Saturday's harness racing program.

It was an all-Illinois victory. The Burrus horse was driven by Bob Miller of Arcola. He earned $4,471 of the $9,425 purse. McElwyn K. Key won the first heat in 2:02 1-5 and came back in 2:05 1-5.

Wagner's Beauty, owned by Mrs. Irene Jo Wagner of Sherman, Ill., and driven by veteran and Glen Hawkins of Springfield, easily won both heats of the State Fair Colt Stakes filly division for 2-year-old trotters.

Hawkins wasn't pushed as he let the Wagner colt come home in front by seven lengths in the first heat in 2:15 2-5, and by four lengths on the second trip in 2:15 flat. Of the $11,350 purse, Wagner's Beauty carried off $5,731.

Reed's Cathy won the State Fair Colt Stakes filly division for 2-year-old pacers from a big field of 20 young horses. The winner is owned by Terry M. Brown of Viola, Ill.

Reed's Cathy, driven by Don Busse, beat out Susy Goose and June Miss. Susy Goose had won both heats of the first division for owner Leland Woods of Newton, Ill. June Miss, from the stable of Lane Smith, Young America, Ind., had won one of the two heats in the second division from Reed's Cathy.

A race-off was needed in the aged division pace for the Robert Drysdale Memorial Trophy, with Doctor Beau edging Frontier Adios.

Doctor Beau, owned by Jeff D. Specker, Mayview, Mo., was driven by Jim McCarthy. Frontier Adios, from the Paul J. Vickroy stables of Arcola, was piloted by Jack Robinson.

Knoop, Cardenal Slug Home Runs For 5-2 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Two-run homers by Bobby Knoop and Jose Cardenal led the Los Angeles Angels to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Knoop hit his home run in the second inning after the Tigers had taken the lead on Gates Brown's run-scoring triple in the first.

Cardenal delivered his 10th homer in the fifth. Both home runs came off Detroit starter Dave Viskochil, now 6-10.

Knoop picked up his third run batted in when he singled home Merritt Raney in the sixth inning.

Cincinnati Clips Cardinals By 4-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Don Pavletich doubled home a run in the fourth inning, then scored the tie-breaking run on a wild pitch in Cincinnati's 4-2 victory over St. Louis Saturday.

The Cardinals were unable to get a hit off Joe Nuxhall or Billy McCool after the third inning. The Cardinals had built a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Ted Savage hit his first homer for St. Louis after Phil Gagliano single.

Nuxhall, now 9-3, was forced to leave after six innings in the 95-degree heat because of an upset stomach.

Allen's Home Run Edges Giants, 4-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rich Allen's two-run homer climaxed a three-run eighth inning rally and gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-2 victory over San Francisco Saturday.

The blow jolted Juan Marichal, an 18-game winner, while Jim Bunning, with relief help from Jack Baldschun, brought his record to 15-7.

Marichal stopped the Phillies on five hits until the eighth. Then with one out, John Briggs singled, continued to second on Hal Lanier's wild throw and raced home with the tying run as Cookie Rojas singled.

After John Callison flied out, Allen drove his 15th homer over the right field fence.

Lopez Singles In Pair Of Runs For 3-2 Yank Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Hector Lopez, a pinch hitter, singled home the tying and winning runs in the ninth inning as the New York Yankees came from behind and pulled out a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Saturday.

The Yankees' ninth inning rally spoiled a perfect afternoon for Kansas City shortstop Ber Campaneris, who staged a one-man show.

He had a perfect afternoon at the plate with four singles, scored one run and drove in the other and stole a base, his 41st of the season.

Lopez cracked John Wyatt's second pitch over right fielder Mike Hershberger's head, chasing Repoz and Boyer home with the tying and winning runs.

Pro Charts BY MURRAY OLDERMAN

RECEIVERS — The only sure thing about the Giants. New alignment finds both Del Shofner (healthy again) and Aaron Thomas split from line and Joe Morrison in the slot, way old Rams used to do it. Thomas gaining in finesse. Homer Jones is a reserve speedster. Looks like ex-Ram, ex Bear John Adams will beat out Bobby Crespiro for spare role behind Thomas. RATING — good.

QUARTERBACK — Coach Allie Sherman confounding everybody by entrusting his offense to little Gary Wood and a bunch of rookies. Gary's feeling pressure of being No. 1 with little retired, John Torok shows promise. Bob Timberlake figures some place if he gets over a sore wing. RATING — poor.

RUNNING BACKS — The era of the Baby Bulls dawns in New York. Don't apply unless you weigh 220. Holdovers Ernie Wheelwright, Steve Thurlow facing stiff fight from Ernie Koy (big hit of early camp) and can't-miss Tucker Frederickson. Chuck Mercein can do more than kick field goals, too. Fastest of all, and shyest, is Smith Reed, who has to get used to big time. RATING — fair-to-good.

DEFENSE
DEFENSIVE LINE — Set in three spots, with Jim Katcavage, Andy Stynchula at ends, John Lovetere at tackle. Stynchula feels more at home as Robusell's successor. The problem is to find another tackle. So far Jim Moran (father of live) is staying ahead of Tony DiMidio, John Contoulis. Kat is the solid man up front at left end. RATING — fair-to-good.

Roy Emerson May Quit Tennis Soon

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — To the guy sitting in the steamy little office from 9 to 5, answering "yes" to J.B.'s every whim, it would seem that Roy Emerson's life is the perfect existence.

Three sets of tennis a day... country clubs... admiring galleries of suburbia's best dressed, best mannered folk... dinner at nine.

Seems difficult to tire of something like that, but Roy Emerson is tired, so tired, in fact, that next year may be his last on the amateur tennis circuit.

"I think Chuck McKinley has the right idea," the 29-year-old Australian said. "Get out on the weekends, play a few tournaments, get established in business, enjoy the family."

Emerson is the world's best amateur tennis player. He has been for the past three years and he conceivably could dominate the sport for at least five more years — if only he wanted to.

But Roy Emerson doesn't want to. "I've been playing for 12 years now, anywhere from eight to 11 months of a year," he said.

"When I started out I had two goals — to represent my country in the Davis Cup and to win at Wimbledon. Well, I've accomplished both."

"Now I've got to think about my wife and family. When I wasn't married, being away from home didn't seem so tough. But I have two little ones now and being away as much as I am is very difficult."

When Roy Emerson does retire, he's going to leave one major question unanswered, the most controversial question of his career — would he have been one of the outstanding pros?

For years, the touring professionals have tried to lure ($50,000 contract) and even embarrass him into joining their tour with caustic statements about being "the highest paid amateur" in the history of the game.

"I don't pay much attention to

Georgian Takes Canadian Golf

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — George Bunkie Henry of Valdosta, Ga., won the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship Saturday by defeating Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., 1-up in their 36-hole match play final over the Pine Ridge course.

The 21-year-old student at Georgia Tech came from behind to defeat the veteran 42-year-old Campbell, the U.S. Amateur champion, after being 2 down after 36 holes. Henry took the lead on the 36th with a 16-foot putt and wrapped things up on the last hole by canning a 30-footer.

"A really fine performance," Campbell declared in paying tribute to his younger opponent.

Both players had trouble controlling their game against a 30-mile an hour wind that swept the course. They finished the 18-hole morning round all even when Henry dropped a 10-foot putt on the 18th for a par while Campbell missed an easy 30-inch.

Campbell went 2 up after 36 holes, but Henry took the 27th by sinking a four-foot putt while Campbell missed a 30-footer.

On the 28th, Henry caught up with a 30-foot chip from the low rough to the left of the green that rolled into the cup.

Campbell regained the lead on the 31st with a 18-foot putt for a birdie, but Henry refused to crack under pressure.

McDowell, Indians Nip Twins Again 3-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Left-hander Sam McDowell pitched a three-hitter and Larry Brown and Chuck Hinton accounted for Cleveland's runs with homers as the Indians defeated American League-leading Minnesota 3-1 Saturday.

The loss was the Twins' third in their last four games. McDowell, the league's strikeout leader, fanned 11 and ran his total for the season to 227, while lifting his record to 13-8. Jim Kaat allowed five hits before he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth and took his ninth loss against 11 victories. BALTIMORE (AP) — Pinch hitter Joe Cunningham slammed a two-out, three-run homer in the 11th inning, giving Washington an 8-5 victory over Baltimore Saturday night.

With one out Jerry Adair bobbled Ken Hamlin's grounder. Willie Kirkland popped up, but Dick Nen singled and Cunningham followed with his blast off Don Larsen.

The Senators presented the Orioles with three unearned runs in the seventh inning of the sloppily played contest but then rallied for a run and a 5-5 tie in the eighth. They scored on a walk to Don Zimmer and singles by Ken McMullen and Don Lock.

Sirs: Save A Corner Of Baseball's Hall Of Fame For 'Old Joe' Medwick

NEW YORK — (NEA) — An open letter to baseball's Hall of Fame committee.

Fellows: I'm not a baseball player so you don't know me. I always wanted to play but my father had other plans for me. I remember every time I asked him for a new bat he told me to shut up and deal.

I doubt I would have been a good player anyway. I was pretty stupid. A coach once told me to take a lap around the field and two hours later he saw me still running. When he asked me why, I had to admit I lost count.

Joe Medwick

And so I became a newspaper man. I've always had a nose for news, you know. And my father always said you could tell a news paper man by the way he smells.

Anyway, I'm writing about Joe Medwick of St. Louis, who was a baseball player and I'm sure you've heard of him. Well, Joe has this thing, see—he wants to be in the Hall of Fame. But he won't come right out and ask for himself because, like he says, "I hope my record will speak for itself."

But I was talking to him the other day and I got this idea to write to you about Joe because my father used to say I was always good at asking for things.

So, how about it? I mean, well, Joe deserves it. Oh, he had his foibles as a player, to be sure. Like the time he got into an argument with Dizzy Dean and Duffy Dean in the St. Louis Browns dugout. The Deans sort of ganged up on him and Joe told them to back off or he'd separate the brothers permanently with a bat.

And maybe he did lead the league in splitting lips. Okay, I admit it.

But so what? If you're just looking for nice guys to enshrine, then vote for Cardinal Spellman. And anyway, Joe has changed. He hardly ever hits anyone any more. So all he asks is that you "open the record books and take a look."

It's all there. Seventeen years of his life in fact and figure. Fourteen seasons at better than .300 at the plate, 11 of them consecutive. A lifetime mark of .324, 10 times an All-Star, two World Series. And, of course, there was 1937 when Joe did everything but cut the infield grass and pass out shower soap.

You remember 1937. That year Medwick became one of nine men in history to win baseball's triple crown. He was .374 with his stick, had 154 RBIs and 31 home runs. He also had 97 hits, 58 doubles, 466 total bases and 111 runs scored — league standards all.

If you think that isn't qualification for the Hall of Fame, I'd like to hear your version of the Easter Bunny. And remember, he played for the Browns, the New York Mets of the era. They'd lose eight of nine and then slide into a slump.

So, how about it? Last year you voted in a guy named James Galvin. Who the hell is James Galvin anyway? I looked it up. He died 63 years ago, that's who! Played ball in 1872 when, from what I can determine, the principal requirements for professional status were sideburns and a handlebar mustache.

It's too bad Ulysses Grant isn't alive so we could find out how good Galvin was.

Well, we know how good Medwick was. But if you have to wait until he's 60 years dead to recognize it, then Joe says, "it ain't gonna do me any good unless they got newspapers in heaven."

I told you Joe has changed. The old Medwick was headed for hotter climes.

So, how about it? My father used to say if you help a man who wants something, he'll never forget you... the next time he wants something.

Sincerely, Tom Tiede

Mets Gain 1-0 Win Over Astros In 10th Inning

HOUSTON (AP) — Chuck Hiller raced home as pitcher Danny Coombs threw away Ron Hunt's squeeze bunt, lifting the New York Mets to a 10-inning 1-0 victory over Houston Saturday night.

The triumph snapped the Mets losing streak at 11, longest in the majors, and was their first after seven defeats at Houston this season.

Hiller singled with one out, stole second and moved to third as Roy McMillan singled. Coombs replaced Dave Giusti and got two strikes on pinch hitter Hunt. But Hunt then bunted, and Coombs grabbed the ball and threw it wildly.

BIRTHDAY DINNER AUG. 11 HONORS MRS. ROSA BROWN, 87

ASHLAND — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Plowright entertained at a birthday dinner Wednesday, honoring Mrs. Plowright's mother, Mrs. Rosa Brown, who celebrated her 87th birthday on that day.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown of Whittier, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shaner of Chester, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ervin of Vincennes, Ind.; Mrs. Isola Miniger of Paulding, Ohio, and son, Austin and wife of Indianapolis, Ind.

On Thursday, four nieces visited Mrs. Brown at the Plowright home. They are Mrs. Edith Shelton and Mrs. Helen DeMotte of Ottumwa, Ind.; Mrs. Marguerite Chapman of Washington, Ind. and Miss Dorothy Walters of Cincinnati, Ohio.

When Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers struck out the first seven batters he faced in relief June 15 he tied the American League record for relief pitchers set by Ryne Duren of Los Angeles in 1961. Boston was the opponent both times.

SOUND OF MUSIC

Mudcat Says It With Music And Calls His Own Tune, Too

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — Most 10-year-olds peep through a fence to get a look at a ball game.

Not Mudcat Grant.

There was no baseball in Lacombe, Fla., when Mudcat was 10, but there was a night club—the specialty was jazz—and even then Mudcat had this feeling for good music.

"The club was just a hole in the wall," the Minnesota Twins pitcher remembered, "and Ray Charles was playing there. Of course, he wasn't as popular then as he is now."

"I could stand by the window, peep in and listen to this blind man who injected such a tremendous feeling of relaxation to everyone there. It was about then that I really started admiring musicians and thinking some day maybe I could do the same."

To James T. Grant, the music profession is almost as serious as baseball — even if he is more established as a pitcher than a band leader.

The 6-0, 185-pound righthander is the leading pitcher in the American League this season, thanks to Twins pitching coach Johnny Sain, who gave him confidence plus some new ways to break off an effective curve ball.

And being the American League's best pitcher could be the break he needs to become established in the music business during the off-season.

"I don't want it THAT way," Grant says. "I had a band last winter and I thought I had the talent to make it as a performer on my own."

"I don't want people coming into some club just because I'm Jim Grant, the pitcher who was with the World Champion Minnesota Twins. (Is this a prediction?)"

"People who go to a theater or a night club to see people perform. I don't think they'd go to see me because of my name. I know a lot of athletes who have tried show business because of their names, but they didn't have the talent to go with it."

"I've been studying performers — all types — theater, jazz, comedians."

"I always try to get to the theater when we're in New York ('Glass Menagerie,' 'The Blacks') and I stop at the jazz spots in Harlem and the Village. We have a good theater in Minneapolis, too, where I've seen 'The Cherry Orchard' and 'King Richard III.'"

"I'm not copying any particular style. I'm just soaking up what they have to give. It's like watching a great ball player perform. You learn something."

Right? "My band plays any kind of music — jazz, folk and I sing and dance, but I don't play an instrument."

"I just signed with a New York agency and we hope to play all over the country this winter."

"I don't want to play any stereotyped music and I don't want to play in any stereotyped clubs either."

That's understandable. Jim Grant is hardly the stereotyped baseball player.

Kentucky has the first all-time win-loss record of any football team in the Southeastern Conference. The Wildcats have won 60 games, lost 106 and tied 12 during 31 years of competition.

PICTURE PITCHER—New York Mets hurler Alvin Jackson displays picture form as he sets, delivers and follows through with his toss. Opposing batters, however, are seldom art lovers and thus the National League team is still and again in the basement.

Marr, Aaron Tied In PGA Tournament

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Dapper Dave Marr cautiously cut out a third round 70 Saturday and tied tiring Tommy Aaron at 209 for the third round lead in the PGA Championship while beleaguered Arnold Palmer quietly faded away.

Aaron, who was in and out of the lead all day, blew a chance to retain sole control of the No. 1 spot he had owned since opening day when he missed a 12-foot par putt on the 18th hole.

He finished with a 72, one over par for the rolling, 7,090-yards of the par 36-35 Laurel Golf Club layout, and a 209. Marr, who skied to a double bogey six — through caution — on the same hole, had a third round 70.

Just one stroke back at 210 was the rebounding Gardner Dickinson, who put together two birds and 16 pars for a 69 after a confidence-shattering 74 in the second round.

Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, who was the overwhelming pre-tournament favorite, and Billy Casper shared fourth place at 211. Each made a major run at the leader, then faded under the scorching sun.

Vanishing Act But Palmer, the troubled general of Arnie's Army, did the biggest fade. Actually it was more of a vanishing act. He took another double bogey — this one without the benefit of the two-stroke penalties that marked his first two rounds over his home course — and finished with a 74.

That gave the slump-ridden charger a 221, a shocking 12 strokes off the leaders going into the final round for the one big title he has never captured.

SAYS CONGRESS MAY STEP INTO BATTLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Saturday Congress may take steps to halt the fight between the ruling powers of U. S. amateur athletics if the battling groups fail to reach an early truce.

Mansfield, the Senate majority leader, was one of several senators expressing concern lest the struggle for power and prestige between the Amateur Athletic Union and National Collegiate Athletic Association hurt both the young athletes involved and U.S. interests in world athletics.

Mansfield told a reporter he still hopes the two can end their feud without governmental intervention.

The Senate Commerce Committee headed by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., is to start two weeks of hearings Monday to bring out the facts about the protracted dispute.

WINS MIDWEST TITLE CHICAGO (AP)—Al McLean of Wilmette, Ill., milled a 72-hole total of 293 with a two-over-par 74 Saturday to win the Midwest Amateur Golf Championship at the Waveland Course.

McLean, 22, is in his second year at the Kent School of Law and was a former Northwestern University golf team captain. Dante Vicini of Ottawa, Ill., and Art Melnikoff of Arlington, Ill., tied for second with 295 to take off McLean's lead in the first hole of a sudden death playoff for the runnerup spot.

and one he so desperately needed to again move to his spot atop the game.

Marr played close to the vest, taking pars on the par 5s and paring the rest until he reached 18.

Then he had a problem — whether to try and reach the green, across a lake and guarded by seven traps, in two or pitch short of the lake and then go for the green.

"That would have given me a five, but I didn't know what club to use. So I went for the green," he said.

But it went into the left rough, he chipped past the hole and two-putted.

Cloninger Records 17th Of Season, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Cloninger collected his seventh straight victory and 17th of the season while Gene Oliver hit his third and fourth home runs in two days as the surging Milwaukee Braves ripped the Chicago Cubs 8-2 Saturday.

Cloninger, whose eight losses include four to the Cubs, scattered eight hits before leaving in the seventh. Loser Bill Faul,

The Braves scored two runs in the third on Eddie Mathews' double and Joe Torre's single. They got two unearned runs in the sixth as catcher Dick Roznovsky dropped the ball at the plate on a run-down play and Faul muffed a sacrifice by Frank Bolling.

Elwin Pins Double Loss On Redlegs

Jacksonville rallies in the last inning fell short in both games Saturday night, as Elwin pinned a twin loss on the Redlegs, 5-2 and 7-6.

Trailing by three in the first game, the Redlegs loaded the sacks with two out but failed to score. In the second game the Redlegs came from a 7-3 deficit to within one and still had the sacks full before falling short.

Jacksonville led 1-0 and 2-1 in the opener before Elwin settled the contest with a run in the fifth and two more in the 7th. The first Redlegs run came in the first frame when Bob Hem-brough reached base on an error, Bob Speaks sacrificed him to second and Bill Oldenettel doubled. The tally in the second came on a single by Fred Curtis, a sacrifice bunt by Sonny Hickox that left both runners safe, another sacrifice and an infield out.

The first Redleg tally in the nightcap came in the second on consecutive doubles by Curtis and Bill Gross. Two more came in the fourth when hurler Bob Vinyard slugged his first homer of the season after Ray Stone had walked.

The three runs in the seventh came when Jack McNeely walked, Hem-brough and Speaks doubled, Oldenettel walked and Gordon McFarland legged out an infield hit. Curtis walked to force in the final tally.

The double loss leaves the Redlegs with a 24-30 record. They play in Hannibal, Mo. this evening, entering the state tournament to defend their Class A title Wednesday night against Alwood Merchants.

LEONARD SCORES FIRST VICTORY

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., captured his first big car victory Saturday, winning a 150-mile U.S. Auto Club national championship at the Wisconsin State Fair.

Leonard drove his rear-engine Ford to a 97.276 mile an hour average speed, finishing seven seconds faster than Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., also in a rear-engine Ford. Leonard won $5,350, Andretti $3,050.

Don Branson of Champaign, Ill., drove his Offenhauser roadster into a sixth-place finish. Branson collected $750.

Corrective Measures Taken At Park Pool To Insure Safety

Recent surveys by state health department engineers have indicated that a new pool will be needed at Nichols Park in the future, primarily because of poor bathroom facilities and deteriorating equipment.

Proper precautions are being taken to assure the safe quality of water for the remainder of the 1965 season according to Paul Keller, park board member in charge of the pool, and Fred Pigott, pool manager.

Both men have received many inquiries regarding the safety of the Nichols Park swimming pool. A letter from the Department of Public Health was read at last Monday's meeting of the city council, calling attention to poor conditions at the pool as observed by a state engineer on July 1.

Corrective Measures

Some of the measures now being taken are hand feeding of chlorine in addition to the chlorine being fed automatically. This will maintain the chlorine content of the pool at such a level to provide a bacteria-free pool.

Also, swimming pool authorities are making tests every hour to guarantee that a safe chlorine level is maintained. If hourly tests show that a safe chlorine level is not maintained in the "safe range" then further admission on that day will be restricted.

A survey of the pool made last Wednesday by William D. Meyer, sanitarian for the Morgan County Health Department, indicated that the chemical quality and clarity of the pool was very good at that time.

Health authorities feel confident that these extra, added measures now being taken will provide a safe, sanitary pool for the remainder of the year.

Cooperation Needed

Pool patrons can cooperate with pool personnel by taking a shower bath with soap and warm water before entering the pool. Also, female swimmers must wear caps. In many respects, even the best run pool soon sinks to the level of its worst patron.

Two out of seven samplings from the pool taken this summer indicated the bacteriological quality of the water to be poor. When the pool is sampled, samples are taken from both the shallow and deep end; therefore, fourteen samples were taken this summer of which two indicated contamination. One of those samples was taken after an estimated 15-minute power failure.

Commenting on the recent state report read before the city council, Mr. Meyer said, "If the pool were unsafe for swimming, the state authorities would close the pool immediately."

Historic Aspects

Swimming first began at Nichols Park in the lake just north of the old concession stand. A portion of the lake was roped off and some sand put in the area. A shed was built for a bath house in 1921.

The present pool was built in 1923. The bath house was built at the same time by the park employees under the direction of Superintendent Hoppe.

The overall size of the swimming pool, including the wading pool, is 150 feet by 100 feet and it holds 450,000 gallons of water with a turnover every eight hours.

The depth graduates in the wading pool from zero to 18 inches and the surface area in the wading pool is 2,000 square feet.

The swimming section has a surface area of 10,900 square feet and varies in depth from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 feet. The diving well has a surface area of 1,600 square feet and varies in depth from 4 1/2 to 8 feet 10 inches.

The pool was rehabilitated in 1946. The deep end was resurfaced with concrete and the filtering system was remodeled. Piping was put in and new walks laid around the pool. This was done at a cost of $23,000.

In 1958, concrete was laid on the rest of the pool including the wading pool at a cost of $12,000.

IFYE Arrives In Morgan County

Miss Tokat From Turkey

By DAN BROGDON

Miss Ayten Tokat of Burdur, Turkey, is presently visiting for two and one half weeks with the John Gordon family who reside near Franklin.

She is here as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service. Young rural people from 68 countries participate in the program.

The largest number of people who participate in the program stay right at home. They are the host families, 2,000 of them annually open their doors to visitors from foreign lands.

The Gordons are Ayten's first host family in Illinois. As a host family, they are giving Ayten an opportunity to understand their way of life. Her first experience with the Gordon family was to attend a wedding even before she had been to the home of her "new family."

Ayten is 25 years old and lives with her parents, two brothers and a sister on a 20 acre farm near Burdur.

She works as a "home economist demonstrator" for the Ministry of Agriculture in Burdur. After she completes her home economics training, she plans to be a 4-H Group Provincial leader which is similar to our county extension advisers.

Although Ayten's father lives on a farm, he is retired railroad conductor and hires a man with a tractor to do his farming. The crops of the area are sugar beets, wheat, and tobacco.

Ayten dresses the same way as her age group in the United States does and reports that many of the younger people in her country dress the same way and not in the traditional national dress, which she kindly modeled.

The costume consists of a blouse, a neck sash and either baggy trousers or a dress sewn together at the bottom with the exception of foot holes.

Ayten says she likes "everything" about the United States.

Mrs. Robbins Of Alexander Dies Saturday

Mrs. Katherine (Katie) Robbins, 88, of Alexander died at 9:03 a.m. Saturday at Holy Cross hospital where she had been a patient for six weeks.

She was born at Fordsville, Kentucky, Sept. 2, 1876, the daughter of Dr. Armstrong and Sallie Haynes Hale. On Oct. 19, 1893, she was married to Irvin Robbins who preceded her in death in 1918. She was also preceded in death by one son and two daughters.

Surviving are the following children, Mrs. Sallie Stapleton of Alexander, Mrs. Frank Weigand of Sanderson, Texas, Mrs. Aline Daniels of San Antonio, Texas, Holman Robbins of Alexander, Edward Robbins and Irvin Robbins, both of Sanderson, Texas, 10 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

She attended the Alexander Methodist church and was active in the WSCS there.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Dismissal on August 30th will be at 11:00 a.m.

SCHOOLS OPEN in Jacksonville on August 30. The Chicago Motor Club supplied the Jacksonville police department with enough posters to place near all schools in District 117 as a reminder to motorists to take extra precautions during the opening days. Many youngsters will be attending school for the first time and others will have their minds on school rather than auto traffic. Motorists are urged to drive carefully near schools. MISS AYTEN TOKAT, center, visited the Journal Courier Friday evening with the John Gordon family. Shown with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are Linda, at right, and Garry Schafflein, a cousin, at left. The group toured the newspaper plant.

Her only exception is salad dressings. "Not spicy enough," she says.

Mrs. Gordon reports that Ayten is a good cook and a great help in the kitchen. Ayten will be staying with the Gordons until August 26th.

On August 27, the Charles Williams family of Chapin will welcome a boy from India and the Dan Likes family of Bluffs will greet a girl from Costa Rica into their homes.

Turner Enrollment Expected Over 700

The anticipated enrollment at Turner Junior High School, grades seven and eight, for the school year 1965-66 is 702 students. The following procedures will be observed on the opening day of school, August 30th.

On the morning of August 30th at 8:30 a.m. the students who will be enrolled in the seventh grade are to assemble in the gymnasium where they will be assigned to homerooms. They will be under the direction of their respective homeroom teachers for the remainder of the school day.

Lists of names indicating eighth grade students' homeroom assignments will be posted on the dock area. These names will appear under the section numbers assigned last term. Should anyone fail to find the necessary information he should inquire at the office before 8:20 a.m.

Any families having moved into School District No. 117 during the summer who have children to be enrolled in Turner Junior High School should do so between August 16 and August 25th.

Book rent will be $7.00 for the school year. Student accident insurance is optional and the premium will be $3.25. Padlock fee for gym is fifty cents. Fees for art shop and homemaking will be payable to these respective teachers at a later date.

The cafeteria will be serving lunches beginning August 31st. Meals cost thirty cents each, and lunch tickets will be sold the first school day of each week thereafter. Students may bring sack lunches. Those who prefer to eat at home must present a written request from their parents. Students are not permitted to leave the grounds to buy lunches.

Dismissal on August 30th will be at 11:00 a.m.

Mrs. Homer Dies Friday, Rites Monday

Mrs. Florence Homer, 58, wife of George Homer of 1100 South East street, died at 11:45 p.m. Friday at Passavant hospital where she had been a patient since August 12.

She was born in St. Louis June 15, 1907, the daughter of William and Harriett Wilkie Farmer. Her husband, George, survives along with two brothers and a sister, Earl Farmer of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Bertha Sheedy, Jacksonville, and Merle Farmer of Independence, Kansas.

For several years Mrs. Homer was employed in the alteration department of the Emporium. She was a member of the Baptist church.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Monday at the Williamson Funeral Home with Rev. Leroy Hedrick and Rev. William J. Boston officiating. Interment will be in Arcadia cemetery.

The family will be at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

PARKED CAR HIT ON DUNLAP STREET

A car driven by Ivan Rattler, 432 South West Street, struck the left front of a parked auto at 10:14 a.m. Saturday on Dunlap street at North Main. Rattler's auto was making a right turn from North Main into Dunlap and made too wide a swing according to investigating city police. The auto ran over a stop sign and struck the left front of a parked car owned by E. F. Isaacs, 627 North Clay. Police said Rattler's view was obstructed by a truck parked at the corner.

The cafeteria will be serving lunches beginning August 31st. Meals cost thirty cents each, and lunch tickets will be sold the first school day of each week thereafter. Students may bring sack lunches. Those who prefer to eat at home must present a written request from their parents. Students are not permitted to leave the grounds to buy lunches.

Dismissal on August 30th will be at 11:00 a.m.

James Corbin Of Ashland Dies Friday

ASHLAND — James Thomas Corbin, 67, of Ashland died at 12:05 a.m. Friday at Memorial hospital in Springfield.

Mr. Corbin, a farmer in the Ashland and Pleasant Plains area for over 25 years, was born in Sparksville, Kentucky.

He is survived by five sons, Jesse of Ashland, Millard of Lemont, Francis A. of Lydon, Delbert of Linden, Tenn., James of Orlando, Fla., six daughters, Mrs. Joyce McIntyre of Chatham, Mrs. Edna Springer of Ashland, Mrs. Delores Mathews of Jacksonville, Mrs. Mary Regina Bigham of Merced, Calif., Mrs. Ocoe Garrett of Salisbury and Mrs. Catherine Murphy of Shelby, Mo., 38 grandchildren, one brother, Richeous of Louisville, Kentucky, three sisters, Mrs. Martha Scott and Mrs. Hattie Rowe, both of Columbia, Kentucky, and Mrs. Mary Jones of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hensley-Davis Funeral home in Pleasant Plains. Burial will be in the Pleasant Plains cemetery.

175 State Police Maintain Order At State Fair

One hundred and seventy State Policemen are required to maintain order, safety and traffic control during the Illinois State Fair. The fair's annual 10-day stand began Friday (Aug. 13) and is expected to host another million visitors this year.

The special one-way routing system, necessary to handle fair traffic, calls for the constant vigilance and direction of much of the police force. State Police fair duties, however, lie beyond the range to routine traffic control. The enormity of the exposition creates security and protective problems that demand special attention.

Under the direction of State Police Capt. William T. Hall and the coordination of Sgt. Robert Hardick, the troopers are responsible for all policing and detective duties.

First to arrive on the scene was a skeleton force of 10 men who assumed their pre-fair duties a week early.

A detail of pedestrian plainclothesmen is scattered throughout the grounds. These men are concentrated in critical areas such as the Illinois Building, Happy Hollow and at the grandstand. They are especially on the alert for pickpockets, disorderly persons and any confidence or "gyp" games.

Both uniformed officers and plainclothesmen will be particularly heedful of persons violating state laws concerning scalping (resale of tickets above the established price) and bringing alcoholic beverages into the fairgrounds.

Hall said that motorcycles, which converge on the fairgrounds the last few days of the exposition, may enter the grounds through Gate No. 10 only. No cyclists will be permitted to drive through the 366-acre site at any time.

Politicians participating in Democratic or Republican Day activities and celebrities appearing in the grandstand shows will receive necessary protection, Hall said.

Other public services by the State Police include help in finding lost children, keys and billfolds and maintaining 24-hour protection for all banking facilities on the grounds.

Phillips Services Conducted Here

Funeral services for Albert C. Phillips were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Williamson Funeral Home, Reverend David Ericson officiating. Mrs. Donald Wood was organist.

Caring for the flowers were June Wasson, Shirley Murphy, Shirley Price, Pauline Kovachevich and Mary Lou Oatman.

Palbearers were Robert Wasson, Gerald Oatman, Ben Murphy, John Oatman, James Oatman and Frank Kovachevich.

'LET HIM BARK'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the midst of Friday night's riot, as hundreds of police tried to restore order, someone called a Negro district police precinct and complained:

"A barking dog is bothering me."

The sergeant replied: "Let him bark."

Roodhouse Man Helped In Hiroshima Bombing

August 6, 1945, the day the United States dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima, will be discussed as long as 'civilized' man exists.

Glen Flowerree, son of Mrs. Lee Sullivan, Sr., 10 Pitner Place, was there when it happened, and still shudders at the "necessary horror" that took place on that date. He was born in Roodhouse.

Glen Flowerree

Flowerree, now a salesman in Kansas City, was a radio operator aboard an army B-59 weather observer plane at the time, and comments that, "... none of us realized the enormity of it until weeks later."

On that day in history, Flowerree and fellow crewmen took off from Tinian Island in the Marianas on a mission that they had been preparing for for the past 12 months, but the purpose of which was unknown to them. "Check the weather conditions over a Japanese naval installation at Kokura," was the only order they had received.

Three planes went out that day to measure weather conditions, but they were not the only aircraft in the area that cloudy day. On their return flight to the base, Airman Flowerree noticed an irregularity in the cloud strata off to the right.

The plane shifted its' course portward, and the tall radio operator and crewmates could distinguish the formation as a mushroom-shaped cloud rising above the cloud cover. The mission had been completed. The bomber for which the weather planes had been observing had just dropped the first atomic bomb ever used in warfare.

Just over twenty years later, Flowerree looks back on the event with mixed emotions. "We were appalled at the amount of destruction, but we always felt it was still a small fraction of the number that would have been killed if the war had gone on and we would have had to invade Japan.

"We figured it meant a quick end to hostilities. The full brunt of the thing just didn't hit us as far as destruction and death."

Flowerree, however, contends that there is some consolation in knowing that the inhabitants of the city had been warned to evacuate.

Odds On Bike Safety

The National Safety Council and the Bicycle Institute of America share a growing concern about accidents involving bike riders. They ought to. An estimated seven and a half million bicycles will be in use for school transportation, from grade schools to colleges, when classes resume this fall. The number of young riders hurt in accidents could be reduced by greater attention to two important factors — traffic rules, and the condition of equipment.

Observance of rules of the road is the most significant factor. The Safety Council reports that failure to abide by these rules is a principal cause in two out of three bicycle accidents. But one out of five bikes involved in these accidents was defective in some way.

Poor brakes or wobbly steering, it is obvious, are likely to compound the danger of faulty bicycle driving.

The value of a safety check of bicycles to be used for school transportation is apparent. Young riders should also be encouraged to refresh their knowledge of the rules of the road.

The most important of these is compliance with all traffic regulations, including stop signs and lights. The others are pretty much common sense: keep to the right, ride in a straight line, give pedestrians the right of way, avoid carrying passengers, look to right and left at intersections, and so on. Following the rules is no guarantee against accidents, but it considerably raises the odds on safety.

Political Maturity

The Senate Judiciary Committee's temperate and cordial treatment of Abe Fortas when he came before it for confirmation as a Supreme Court justice was another indication of our growing political maturity. The senators' reactions to charges and innuendoes of Red fellow traveling made against Fortas by two hostile witnesses were a measure of how America has outgrown the frenetic hysterias of McCarthyism.

The dark hints and allegations of those anxious to discredit Fortas as an associate of Communists got short shift from members of the committee. The senators were both bored and irritated by the witnesses' tawdry claims about Fortas' distant past; they were more interested in whether his associations with President Johnson might interfere with his objectivity on the Supreme Court bench.

This seeming lack of concern about a recital of alleged Red connections cannot be ascribed to any softness on communism. Several of the senators involved have been notable for unrelenting pursuit of the Reds. The operative factor was that such men as Senators Dodd, McClellan and Chairman Eastland (who also heads the internal security subcommittee) are not taken in these days by the kind of unsupported "evidence" that spread such terror when Joe McCarthy was at the height of his baleful power. And neither are most other Americans.

Dear Ann:

Tells Why Children Can't Read

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a fifth grade English teacher who is steaming mad. I just came from a meeting where a mother of three children said, "Something must be done to improve the quality of our public school teachers. My husband and I discovered last night that our 10-year-old son cannot read. He has been bluffing his way through school. I place the blame squarely on the shoulders of lazy, incompetent teachers."

Would you like to know why this child and thousands more cannot read? Because the parents are so involved with club work or parties or just staring at TV they don't pay any attention to their children. They stock the kids' rooms with toys, gadgets and — yes, their own TV — anything to keep them out of their hair.

If these parents would look over their children's homework occasionally and ask them to read aloud an essay or a theme, or an interesting piece in the newspaper, they'd know whether or not the kids can read. Thanks for letting me have my say. —ANGRY

Dear Angry: I agree with you and I hope your letter stirs some parents to action. Tonight, as an experiment, if you have a child between the ages of 9 and 12 why don't you ask the youngster to read aloud an item of interest from this newspaper. You may be in for a shock, folks.

Dear Ann Landers: We moved to this city 15 years ago and my husband has made a fine reputation for himself in the community.

About five years ago a man whose name is identical to my husband's (middle name and all) moved to this city. This man has been arrested for drunk driving, disturbing the peace and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. We became terribly upset whenever this man's name appears in the paper — which is often.

His address and age are always stated but we feel the paper should either run the man's picture or they should add, "not the Sam Smith who was chairman of the Red Cross drive in 1963." The publisher refuses to do this. We feel it is unfair. What is your opinion? —MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Dear Mistaken: Sorry, but a newspaper has no obligation to identify an individual, by stating who he is "NOT."

By this time, almost everyone in town must know there's an undesirable character around whose name is the same as your husband's, so stop worrying about nothing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sitting here about to drown in my own tears. For the third time in a week my husband stormed out of the house in a rage.

We never used to argue but now it seems we fight constantly. The cause of the trouble is his mother. She has been with us night and day for 20 years and I've bent over backwards to avoid an argument with her. I am not looking for any medals but it is not easy to have another woman on your neck 24 hours a day.

My mother-in-law has two daughters and a son but she has never visited them. They always come here. Am I wrong to want her to go visit one of her children for a week so we can be alone for the first time in 20 years? —BROKEN-HEARTED LOUISVILLE WIFE

Dear Wife: Since your husband's brothers and sisters are so selfish that they won't give you some relief from that barnacle, your husband should see to it that the two of you take a vacation every year — alone. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

So They Say

I said it before and I say it again. If they want to get me out of the country, they will have to carry me over the border. —American citizen Henri Van Vlissingen, who has been declared undesirable by the Swiss government because of a fuss which started when he built a villa 19 inches taller than Lake Geneva regulations.

While through science man tries to harness the forces of nature around him, through religion he seeks to control the forces of nature within. —Werner von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

Washington World Law Day Offers A Distant, Tantalizing Idea

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — On Sept. 13 the headlines may well go to events in Viet Nam, or to a civil rights march somewhere. The fact that it will also be World Law Day may strike many Americans as pretty dreamy stuff, if they hear about it at all.

The setting aside of that day is indeed an adventure in idealism, intended to call attention to the hopes of whole legions of lawyers that the rule of law may some day be so thoroughly pervading throughout the world as to make war truly obsolete.

But World Law Day, and the week-long September conference here of which it will be a part, already represents a good deal more than a filmy dream. Some 2,000 legal leaders from 120 countries would hardly be gathering in Washington for so distant a purpose.

The hard, practical substance behind the conference on World Peace Through Law is the tremendous proliferation of contacts among the peoples of the world — and among their many institutions and agencies.

International trade, travel, investment and other relationships among men and nations are accelerating so fast that some legal ordering of these affairs is vital if chaos is to be avoided. Just on the national level, the United States now is party to 1,432 treaties and conventions. It is represented at an average of two international meetings a day at which new law may come up.

Lawyer Charles Rhyne, chairman of the September conference, says the United Nations and its specialized agencies have "spurred, spawned, updated or sponsored more international law and legal institutions than was achieved in all prior history."

New international courts below the World Court level are springing up out of compelling need. The dealings of the Common Market and other European agencies have brought a thousand disputes or more to a new European Supreme Court of Justice. The continent also and useless.

has a Human Rights Court, and the NATO countries have approved a plan for a NATO court.

It is anticipated that similar regional courts will arise in other areas. There are already serious stirrings in South America, where another Common Market has come into being.

Trade agreements affecting fish, coffee, wheat and other commodities are established. World air travel is now so complex that agencies exist to control rates and operations, customs procedures, weather information, accidents on the ground and in the air.

The world's lawyers already are worrying about laws to govern the activities of men and nations in outer space. If this sounds silly or premature, note that upwards of 300 objects are presently spinning in global orbit, with more being hurled up all the time.

The Ford Foundation is providing major financing for the Washington conference. Yet from bar associations, law firms and individual lawyers in this country, The South Dakota Bar Assn., which can hardly feel itself deeply embroiled in world legal matters, gave $1,000.

As a matter of fact, the World Peace Through Law Center, based in Washington, plans to turn out the first multivolume world law code in history, not to mention a compilation of all major treaties and a guide to laws and courts.

The September gathering will spend a lot of time exploring new realms for world law, new ways of drawing lawyers together for co-operative effort, and programs for encouraging badly needed international unification in the bustling field of private law. The world's still-growing complexity will be the lawyers' constant spur in this and later conferences.

But the distant dream will not be lost sight of — the tantalizing notion that if enough men and enough nations can regulate enough of their large and small affairs by law, then war will one day appear to all as both absurd and useless.

"What sort of a six bid was that?" asked North, as he put down the dummy.

"I'll let you know later," replied South. "I'm just tired of having my opponents put in non-vulnerable spade bids against my vulnerable heart contracts and I made up my mind this time that they could either let me play at four or defend against a slam."

As you see from the bidding South had tried his best to get to be declarer at four hearts. He had passed over East's three spade bid in the hope that his partner might double that call. Instead, North went to four hearts and after East and South passed West continued to four spades.

At this point North might well have doubled. Practically all North players in the duplicate game who got a chance to double four spades did so. The result against four spades doubled was not a happy one for North and South. All they could collect were five tricks for a plus of 300 points while other North-South pairs made 680 at either four or five hearts.

This particular North did not double and when the bid came around to South he jumped to six hearts.

West passed. He had a pretty good club suit to open and hoped to beat six. So he led his king of clubs but there was no way to beat the slam since South drew trumps and ran off diamonds. Diamonds broke 3-3 so South was able to discard one of dummy's clubs on his fourth diamond and make the slam.

It would not have done West any good to save at six spades. He would have been down 700 and since the slam was not bid anywhere else minus 700 would have been just as bad a match point score as minus 1430.

FINDING THE WAY

Don't Forget the Rules

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. President Johnson remarked the other week that astronaut White had seemed reluctant to return to the capsule when he had tasted the giddy ecstasy of weightlessness. He suggested that this is somewhat the experience of our age.

Mankind seems to have entered into a kind of revolutionary period which negates all of the old pulls and orderliness. It is a kind of weightlessness in which it is difficult to maneuver and more perplexing to understand. Yet mankind has tasted the experience and the old capsule will seem safe and yet never permanently satisfactory.

His comment is an oversimplification but it contains enough truth to describe our uncertainties. Our new freedom is dangerous, yet it's a heady experience and we aren't going to settle for the continuance of the old. Because of this we are in danger of forgetting the rules and drifting off into a kind of orbiting freedom which leads to disaster. Our scientists have been bold because they have respected the existing rules of the game.

The danger confronting so many is illustrated by a chap who jumps off a skyscraper. On the way down he smirks at the earthbound land-lubbers who stare from the windows seemingly denied his freedom. But there comes a moment when that man comes to terms with the law of gravity.

Many a person leaps from the seemingly earthbound confinement of the Ten Commandments and looks snobbishly at his more pedestrian neighbors.

Some of us believe there is a day of reckoning.

Limiting life to the capsule form could make us think only of the value of the form instead of the purpose of our mission. Doing this reduces religion to a kind of State Shinto. It turns patriotism into a nationalistic snobbery. It degrades family pride into a social caste system. It turns education into a cultural aloofness. It demeans economic advantage into a kind of personal superiority. It turns morality into a kind of consensus.

Symbols gave form and substance to other generations and are meaningful to our own. It's of importance that we constantly explore the nature of our existence but, before we wreck our hopes in some giddy leap, we ought to understand what we're up to. That's as certain for our personal lives as it is for our international behavior. It is as obligatory for our households as it is for the familyhood of nations.

The old adage was "Look before you leap." For our own time it could be "Consider carefully before you throw away the capsule."

The Mature Parent Chilling New Voices

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. It was Ray Bradbury, I think, who wrote the science fiction tale about how the machines of earth go on clicking and whirring after an invasion from outer space has destroyed its people.

I don't remember who the invaders were, because what was memorable wasn't their identity. It was the chilling end of the tale—the smooth, efficient, mindless, continuing functioning of metal cylinders and electrical circuits when all meaning and purpose of the functioning had ceased to exist.

I've been reminded of this story by a comment from a reader who protests a recent column on what seems to me to be the idiocy of fallout shelter programs.

She writes: "If you don't want to pioneer in the post nuclear war world, why don't you die right now, Mrs. Lawrence? I'm a 14-year-old girl and my generation has no use for spineless twits like you. The world we are going to build after a nuclear war won't have any room for weaklings like you. So die now, why don't you? Perish—and save us the trouble of having to get rid of you."

The child, you see, has accepted the inevitability of nuclear war.

How many other children have accepted it? Hundreds? Thousands? At what cost?

Thought of that cost is quite as chilling as the thought of those oblivious machines clicking on in meaninglessness. For children are not machines.

What human feeling has to atrophy in a child of 14 in order to allow her to rejoice at the prospect of post-nuclear war? Trust in the essential sanity of her race would have to harden into steady cynicism. Delight in the new green of spring leaves would have to go along with looking forward to picnics, Christmas mornings and birthday cakes.

Don't tell me she doesn't know what she's talking about with this euphoric commitment to heroic pioneering in the post-nuclear war world.

I'm not talking about her knowledge of what that world will be. I'm talking about feeling—and her struggle to kill those feelings of hope, of faith and human community which are as essential to healthy young human life as food and exercise.

How many of our children accept the inevitability of nuclear war? How many are secretly preparing themselves to maintain life on their dead earth? How can we know how many?

American Menu Don't Thump the Melons

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Q—Is "thumping" to see whether a watermelon sounds full or empty the best way to judge ripeness?

A—Experts of the Department of Agriculture say this is an extremely misleading way to judge. They advise, instead, that when you're buying a whole watermelon, look for symmetrical shape and a velvety bloom. Also, be sure it has a dull rather than a shiny surface. A sure method for checking ripeness is the traditional method of cutting a "plug" out so you can see the flesh and sample the taste.

Q—Like rice and want to serve it often. But my teen-aged daughter says it has no food value. Is she right?

A—No. Rice is primarily a source of food energy. It provides calories at low cost. It also contains some protein. It is so abundant in the United States that it is one of the foods donated to needy families in the surplus food program.

Manners Make Friends

Soap and children seem to be from warring worlds.

Matter of Fact

The pilot fish, about a foot long, is well known to sailors because of its habit of keeping company with ships and larger fish, especially sharks. It is common in tropical waters. In summer the pilot fish has been known to accompany ships into port as far north as southern England. It accompanies ships and sharks because of the supply of food it derives from both.

Lower Prices Make Wheat Competitive With Corn As Feed

Lower prices and the perennial dockage problem caused by field garlic in some areas of the state have combined to make wheat a cheaper livestock feed than corn in many Illinois counties. A number of feeders are taking advantage of the situation.

"Whether farmers feed corn or wheat is strictly a matter of price," explains University of Illinois animal scientist Terry Greathouse. "Wheat is an excellent livestock feed, and whenever it costs the same as corn, pound for pound, it can be a useful addition to the ration."

As a source of energy, wheat is about 95 percent as valuable as corn. But since wheat contains more protein (13.5 percent compared with 9.1 percent in corn), it is worth as much, or slightly more, on an equal-weight basis.

Gains Nearly Identical

In a U. of I. study comparing wheat and corn for growing-finishing swine, average daily gains were 1.70 pounds for hogs on corn and 1.75 pounds for those getting wheat. Feed required per pound of gain was 3.29 pounds for the corn and 3.25 pounds for wheat. Studies with beef and sheep show comparable results.

In most cases livestock will accept and use ground wheat best when it is mixed about equally with shelled corn or ground oats. Bred sows are one exception. They will do well on a limited ration containing only wheat.

A-1 With Silage

Greathouse also cites Kentucky and Kansas research results indicating that farmers can successfully feed ground wheat by itself if they spread the grain over a liberal feed of corn silage.

"Evidently the silage reduces the 'stickiness' of ground wheat for cattle by supplying more bulk," Greathouse explains. "However, farmers who feed limited amounts of silage should not let wheat make up more than 60 percent of the total grain ration."

The U. of I. specialist says livestock accept wheat best when it is coarsely ground or rolled. Fine grinding only compounds the grain's tendency to become sticky and ball up in the animal's mouth.

Greathouse points out that cattle feeders can feed less protein supplement with a mixed corn and wheat ration than with a grain ration containing only corn. However, since hogs can't use wheat protein as efficiently as cattle can, they should receive the same level of protein supplement with both grains.

Morgan 4-H Members Active At State Fair

Eighteen members of Morgan County 4-H clubs will take an active role in this year's youth activities at the Illinois State Fair. They will show their hogs, beef cattle and 4-H projects, compete in the livestock judging and public speaking contests and join in the Share-the-Fun program.

Eight of them have 28 head of hogs in the junior show. They are Tom Patterson, Route 1; Jim Burrus, route 1; Raymond Bloomfield, Ashland; Harold Hoagland, Prentice; Tom Burrus, Arenzville; Bobby DeOrnellas, route 4; Ed Ward, route 3, and Larry Martin, route 3.

Barrow classes will be shown Tuesday and breeding stock classes Wednesday.

Monday Judy and David Sutcliffe of Murrayville will exhibit Angus heifers in the junior cattle show. The junior steer show was held yesterday and Morgan county entrants were Jack Kershaw, 826 Freedman; Tom Burrus and Ed Ward.

Entomology and electrical projects prepared by Vernie Thomas of the Arcadia Acres will be on display throughout the week.

The Merry Doshans 4-H club will present a skit in the Share-the-Fun contest Wednesday evening. The skit, an original burlesque on "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," ranked first in the Morgan contest staged last month.

Larry Martin and Wayne Bloomfield, Berea club, are among the 50 finalists who will compete for a place on the Illinois 4-H livestock judging team. This intense competition will begin at 12:45 p.m. Thursday. Last year Ronnie Walpole made the state team and went on to win top honors in the national finals held in conjunction with the Royal American Stock show in Kansas City and the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

Wayne Bloomfield and Carol Becker, Peppy Peppers, are the Morgan county entries in the public speaking contest, which will be held Thursday, beginning at 9 a.m.

Miss Carolyn Calvert, assistant home adviser, and Ralph Romig, assistant farm adviser, will be among the corps of counselors assisting with the state fair youth program this week.

Foreign Trade Policy Conference Aug. 20

BLOOMINGTON — A trade development conference designed to stimulate increased foreign sales of Illinois food products will be held here August 20.

The all-day Farm Bureau Trade Development Conference will be held in the home office building of the Illinois Agricultural association, sponsor of the meeting. Invited to participate are representatives of food processing firms, grain and milling companies, and meat packing and processing firms.

Dwight Davis, IAA associate secretary of marketing, who is in charge of arrangements, said the conference is designed for both small and large processors of agricultural commodities interested in developing profitable markets in foreign countries.

"There is an increasing demand in many countries around the world for both raw and processed farm commodities," Davis said. "The population growth in these countries, coupled with the increased ability to buy and the inability of these countries to supply food products to this growing population, have opened up many new markets. The development of these markets, however, will depend in large part on the willingness of processors to sell their products overseas."

Davis emphasized that the conference is designed to deal in "practical, not theoretical approaches to expanding foreign trade."

The conference will open with a 9:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. registration period.

4-H OVERNIGHT CAMP AUG. 20

The annual overnight camp for Morgan County 4-H members will be held at the Western 4-H camp at Lake Jacksonville Friday.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m., announces Larry Martin, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Reservations must be filed with the Extension office by noon Tuesday.

4-H STOCK AUCTION BRINGS IN $29,575

The 1965 livestock auction held at the fairgrounds Saturday, Aug. 7, put $29,575 into the hands of Morgan county's 4-H boys and girls. Assistant Farm Adviser Ralph Romig announced last week.

Sold at premium prices were 74 steers, 111 hogs and 23 lambs.

The returns of this year's auction were almost $2,000 more than that realized in 1964.

FANCY BEANS — Paul Heinhorst, Versailles, (right), finds an unusual crop of beans growing under artificial weather conditions during a recent tour of research facilities at International Minerals & Chemical corporation's world headquarters in Skokie, Ill.

Heinhorst, agronomist of A. B. Chrisman Fertilizer Company, Meredosia, was at IMC's laboratories to take part in a two-day agronomic seminar on soil fertility and the new "super-premium" fertilizers that are helping farmers break the profit barrier with higher yields. With Heinhorst is Dr. Lloyd Hossner, IMC research agronomist who is investigating zinc uptake in the beans.

Annual Barbecue Here Sept. 11

The Morgan County Farm Bureau will hold another pork chop barbecue, on Saturday, Sept. 11, at the 4-H building on the fairgrounds, announces Organization Director John Chambers.

Serving will begin at 6:30 p.m. Last year's barbecue brought out 400 family members of Farm Bureau and Chambers expects between 500 and 600 will turn out this year.

There will be entertainment and a representative of the Illinois Agricultural association will be on hand to speak on farm achievements and problems. Several attendance prizes will be distributed. Tickets are 50c, and are available from Farm Bureau directors, township chairmen and employees of the Service Co. and Insurance division.

PLASTIC COVERED GREENHOUSE FINE FOR TOMATOES

DIXON SPRINGS — Horticultural specialists recently harvested the spring greenhouse tomato crop at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Agricultural Center. Two varieties, Ohio WR-25 and Michigan-Ohio Hybrid, produced nearly 18 pounds of marketable fruit on each plant.

Extension horticulturist Bill Courter says that nearly 10,000 plants can be grown on each acre with a spacing of 4.5 square feet per plant. This means that the better varieties at Dixon Springs produced the equivalent of almost 90 tons per acre!

Courter reports Michigan-Ohio Hybrid has averaged more than 17 pounds of tomatoes per plant for the past four years. Usual greenhouse culture permits two crops each year, one in the fall and one in the spring. Fall yields are generally less than spring yields because of poorer natural light. However, a yield of 100 tons per acre from both crops is well in the range of most growers.

A tough Mylar plastic covers the greenhouses at Dixon Springs. Courter is studying the feasibility of growing tomatoes in low-cost, plastic-covered houses in southern Illinois. A report of this study will be available soon.

IGC STOCKHOLDERS TO CAUCUS HERE

Stockholders of the Illinois Grain Corporation, grain handling and merchandising affiliate of the Illinois Agricultural association, will caucus here Wednesday evening to select a board member to represent District 6.

The meeting will be held in Farm Bureau hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Most of the cooperative's stock is owned by farmers' cooperative elevator companies. District 6 is made up of Adams, Brown, Cass, Pike, Morgan, Scott, Calhoun, Greene, Macoupin and Jersey counties.

Late Season Diseases Now Found In Nearly All Soybean Fields

Stem canker, pod and stem blight and charcoal rot, three late-season diseases of soybeans, may be found in Illinois fields from mid-July to harvest. At least one of these diseases can be found in almost every soybean field in the state. Yield losses are not normally severe, although under certain conditions there may be local damage.

Each disease is caused by a different fungus, report University of Illinois plant pathologists D. R. Scott and M. C. Shurtleff.

Stem canker, the most serious of the three, occurs throughout the Midwest. The canker fungus enters the main stem at the base of a lateral branch or leaf, usually near the soil line. Reddish-brown to black, slightly sunken cankers form about the time the pods start to fill. The cankers slow or completely stop the movement of water and nutrients in the plant. Infected plants die prematurely. The dead leaves remain attached instead of dropping off as they normally would at maturity, Scott and Shurtleff point out. Stem canker is usually first noticed because of the dead plants, with leaves still attached, scattered among healthy plants that are still green. The canker fungus is seed-borne, and it may also overwinter in diseased tissue.

Found Everywhere

Pod and stem blight occurs late in the season when the plants mature. It is more widespread than stem canker, occurring in all soybean-growing areas of the United States. But because this blight occurs late in the season, it causes less damage than stem canker. Damage is most severe in wet seasons. Numerous small, black, pimply fruiting bodies of the fungus are produced on stems and pods. Normally these bodies are arranged in rows on the stems, but scattered over the pods. Seeds in infected pods may rot. Seedlings grown from infected seed usually die before or soon after emergence. The blight fungus, which is closely related to the stem canker fungus, may overwinter in diseased tissue in addition to being seed-borne.

A Versatile Disease

Charcoal rot occurs mainly in the southern half of Illinois, but it may be found in other parts of the state in sandy or infertile soils. This disease is favored by hot, dry weather. It is most severe when plants are grown under unfavorable conditions. The rot fungus attacks the roots and lower stems, causing premature death of affected plants. It may attack young plants if their growth has been retarded. But the fungus normally infects only plants nearing maturity, Scott and Shurtleff say. It also attacks many other crops and weeds, including corn and sorghum. Charcoal rot is recognizable from the numerous black, speck-sized fruiting bodies just beneath the bark of the stem and roots. They may be so numerous that they give a grayish-black color to the tissues beneath the bark.

Method Of Control

Stem canker and pod and stem blight can be controlled by planting disease-free seed and rotating crops. No soybean varieties are resistant to these diseases. Adams, Chippewa, Harosoy and Lindarin varieties are least affected by stem canker, whereas Hawkeye is very susceptible. Harosoy is least affected by pod and stem blight. Normally charcoal rot losses are so minor that control measures are not necessary, but it's best to maintain high, balanced soil fertility based on a soil test.

For further information on these diseases, ask for Report on Plant Diseases No. 504 and U. of I. Circular 676. Both are available at the office of the local farm adviser.

NAMED TO U. I. FORESTRY GROUP

Glenn E. Massie of Casswood Industries, Beardstown, has been appointed a member of the U. I. College of Agriculture forestry advisory board. He succeeds K. Starr Chester of Alton.

Dean Louis B. Howard announced the appointment, for a three year term, last week. Henry A. Longmeyer of Greenfield has completed his three year term on the animal science advisory committee. His successor is L. E. Hatch of Urbana.

Carlton Morton, Bowen, was named to succeed Joseph B. Mountjoy of Atlanta on the agronomy committee.

YOUNG CATTLEMEN JOINS ASSOCIATION

Danny D. Smith, 11, Alexander, has been granted a junior membership in the American Angus association at St. Joseph, Mo., announces Glen Bratcher, secretary.

This new junior membership entitles the member to register purebred Angus cattle at regular membership rates and to the privileges of the association until the age of 21. At that time junior members are eligible to convert to lifetime memberships.

There were 205 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month. Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Smith of Alexander.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK

LETTER

NEWS SUMMARIES

Calf crop up? This year's calf crop will total about 43.1 million head, ¼ percent more than last year, according to the USDA. Most of the dairy states have fewer milk cows and hence fewer calves.

The beef cattle states generally have a few more calves than they had a year ago. In 28 states with more beef than dairy cows, the calf crop totaled 32.8 million head, 1¼ percent more than last year. Some of these states — Illinois, for example — have a considerable number of dairy cows. They probably have fewer dairy calves this year than last. Consequently we would guess that the number of beef calves is up around 2 percent for the nation as a whole.

Some increase by states were as follows: South Dakota, 7 percent; Montana, 5 percent; Iowa and Florida, 4 percent; North Dakota and Kentucky, 3 percent; and Oklahoma, Tennessee, Wyoming, North Carolina, Oregon and Arizona, 2 percent. Texas, Nebraska, California, Alabama, Idaho, Washington and South Carolina have 1 percent more calves than they had last year. Missouri, Kansas and Colorado show no change. The Illinois calf crop is reported to be 2 percent smaller than that of a year ago. The decline reflects a decline in numbers of dairy cows.

Lamb crop down 2 percent. The 1965 lamb crop will total about 17.6 million head, 2 percent less than last year. Most of the decrease is in the Midwest and East. The 35 Native States had an estimated 5,579,000 lambs, 5 percent less than in 1964. The 13 Western States had 12,021,000, practically the same a year ago. Illinois is credited with 377,000 lambs, 6 percent less than last year.

Fewer soybeans on hand. Stocks of soybeans on hand July 1 totaled 131 million bushels. This amount was 23 percent less than last year, but only 3 percent less than the five-year 1959-63 average.

The amount of beans used and exported from last October 1 to July 1 totaled 601 million bushels. This amount was about 11 percent more than use and exports a year earlier. The supply remaining on hand July 1 appears to be about 8 percent less than was used in the July-September quarter a year ago.

Feed grain supplies down. Stocks of the four feed grains on July 1 totaled 79 million tons, which was 17 percent less than a year before and also 17 percent less than the five-year 1959-63 average. The USDA expects the carryover of feed grains to be about 56 million tons, down one-fifth from last year.

The USDA reported recently that farmers had placed only 9.3 million tons of 1964 crop feed grains under price support. This is about half the usual amount and the smallest total since 1951.

FUNDS SOUGHT FOR NEW INDUSTRY AT MT. STERLING

MT. STERLING — The Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce held its regular meeting at the Bates restaurant Wednesday noon with Fred Bessell in charge. The proposed changes in the by-laws in regard to directors were read.

Members are to be notified ten days prior to voting on the changes. Directors will be elected at a later date. A discussion was held of the proposed new industry coming to Mt. Sterling. A drive for funds is now underway, and a county drive will be held later.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott and family of Mt. Sterling will leave for Harrisburg where they will make their home August 14. Mr. Elliott has been at the Mt. Sterling clinic for five years. They have three children.

Russell Weaver, who for many years was Unit Superintendent in Brown county, will move to Danvers and will be Unit Superintendent there. Mr. Weavers has assumed his new duties, and his family will move there shortly.

They have five children. Randy is working in Quincy and will attend Western Illinois university. Rusty is attending Western now and Connie will teach in Decatur Junior high. Ronnie and Robbie are at home.

Mrs. Clara Kunkel and Mrs. Charlene Daniels accompanied five Girl Scouts on a trip to Springfield and New Salem Wednesday. They were taken on a guided tour of the State House and visited the State Museum. After some shopping, they motored on to New Salem, enjoying the afternoon.

Those going were Cindy Kunkel, Jill Shoopman, Barbara Behrens, Linda Barker, and Cathy Daniels. The girls are planning another trip to the Quincy Airport.

'She's Kinda Pokey, But O.K.'

A THIRD GENERATION representative of a famous Hereford cattle family scored at Morgan County Junior Fair. And so did her fine heifer.

Elise Andras, 10, won the admiration and applause of the spectators as she tugged and pulled at her heifer, and the latter caught the fancy of the judge who proclaimed her the best female of the breed on the grounds.

The Morgan fair was the second for Elise. She and her entry earlier captured the championship at the Greene county fair.

She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

John Andras, who live on Route 67 just south of Manchester. Her father and his brothers, under the firm name of Andras Bros., won many of the top ribbons offered for the breed in the larger fairs and the International Livestock Exposition a few years ago, and before that they were the junior partners of J. C. Andras & Sons, Hereford Cattle, Manchester, Scott county, Ill.

Elise belongs to the Golden Grove 4-H club.

"I like going to fairs," says Elise, who will never be classed among the Amazons. Pointing to her heifer she asserted, "She's kinda pokey, but O.K."

Farmers, Businessmen Hear Rural Life Woes

Approximately 300 people attended a buffet dinner Monday night at the Elks Club to hear Arnold Paulson, businessman from Granite Falls, Minn. The occasion was an NFO sponsored farmer-businessman gathering to which county businessmen were guests of the farmers.

Paulson who for several years has expressed "deep concern over the rapid decline in the rural economy plus the fact that our whole national economy is being undermined," he stated that the average person in the rural areas hasn't the slightest idea what is taking place and is completely unaware of the forces at work that are dedicated to completely destroy the rural way of life.

"It's impossible to comprehend what is taking place unless a person takes the time and effort to completely evaluate serious problems that confront every rural community. Farmers must become business men, must get control of their own industry and must market their commodities like every other business," he declares.

Mr. Paulson, a former state president of the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce, was named the state's Outstanding Young Man in 1950, was one of four hosts to President Dwight Eisenhower in the state in 1952 and was president of the Granite Falls Jaycees when it was named the outstanding chapter of the nation.

"The Great Suicide" — "The Great Society is the great suicide as far as rural America is concerned," he said of President Johnson's program. Paulson referred to the effect that would come if the President's idea of 2.5 million farmers seeking other employment was carried through.

"This means that hundreds of thousands of small businesses will go down the drain with the farmers. This will have an adverse effect on our school system, rural churches, county government and all of rural America," he said.

"It seems most of the emphasis in the country today is on industrial development. Communities think they can solve their economic problems by attracting new industry."

The Sickest Industry "At the same time, however, the largest industry we have in this country — agriculture — is the sickest industry. Since 1950 Illinois has lost $51 billion of its fair share of the national income because of low farm prices," he said.

Looking at the national economic growth from 1950 to 1962, Mr. Paulson said the Foundation lists overall growth at 124 percent. Labor received a 148 percent in wages, rental income went up 56 percent and net interests and profits went up by 460 percent.

"But the farm income in those 12 years has gone down 16.9 percent," he stressed.

Taxes Through Parity "All of the agricultural states today are having a serious tax problem. It's high time our state legislatures start looking for a cure of this unbalance in taxes, rather than new ways to tax people."

"If we would restore farm prices to 100 percent parity, so that the American farmer got his fair share of the national income, this would give us the tax relief we are looking for. It would lower the overall tax burden of people in all the agricultural areas rather than increase them."

"This is actually the tax relief everyone is looking for." "The government is the cause of all our farm problems today. They have had control of agriculture for some 30 years and haven't solved the problem," the speaker asserted.

He asked for better understanding of the National Farmers Organization which seeks, by collective bargaining, to secure for the farmers their just share of the national economy. The meeting was sponsored by NFO members of Morgan, Scott, Greene and Pike counties.

PIG TALK!

The American Meat Institute pointed out in a recent statement that "Pig Talk" is indeed a part of our common language. "Eating high off the hog" is an expression stemming from the fact that the desirable cuts come from the upper part of the hog's carcass.

"Bring home the bacon" probably originated with the custom of awarding the pig to the winner of the greased pig contest.

"Pig in a Poke" — this comes from the old confidence game where a buyer thought he was getting a shoat and ended up with a cat instead.

"No Ham and all Hominy" — this sad observation is the equivalent of all work and no pay.

So it goes down a list of "Ham Actor", "Hog-Leg", "Sand Hog", "Hog Wash", and "In a Pig's Eye."

FROM THE CORN CRIB FAMILY TIES — A fellow was endeavoring to borrow some money from a friend. The friend wanted to know why he didn't use his own money, and the fellow explained that, everything he had was in a joint account. "But you can draw money from a joint account," volunteered his friend.

"Not this joint account," explained the financially destitute husband. "Our joint account is in the name of my wife and her mother."

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:25 P.M. on W.L.D.'S 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

INTEGRATE - TRANSFER - LAUNCH

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

Although the first Titan III-C was built up, stage by stage, and checked out on the launching pad in the usual manner a new system is being used on the second Titan III-C launching, scheduled for next September. This system is called the Integrate-Transfer-Launch (ITL). Last week the stages for the second Titan III-C were delivered to a sky-scraper like building, called the Vertical Integration Building (VIB), located on a man-made island in the Indian River just west of Cape Kennedy. Here the three liquid fueled stages of the Titan III, called the Core Vehicle, are being put together.

Prayer Poem—

Please Jesus Make Us Kind

By Mary Pence Claywell

I wouldn't kill a Lady Bug... I like her pretty eyes... Her little dress with "polka-dots." And also, how she flies: I wouldn't swat her on the wall; I love to watch her float... Her speckled wings, spread out to show Her nice, dark petticoat: She never soils the curtains, She loves the windows too... She crawls upon the "house-plants." But doesn't "ruin or chew." I don't know why folk kill her, It's CRUEL... as it can be... So the pretty, little Lady Bug is always... safe with me: O help us have COMPASSION, Lord. Upon such harmless things. That do not chew, or ruin, or hurt. Or carry... hidden stings!

While this is going on the VIB will give the rocket, and the men working on it, far more protection from the weather than even the most enclosed tower could. When the Core Vehicle leaves the VIB it will be moved in an upright position by rail. Since the Core Vehicle can be launched by itself as a Titan III-A it could be hauled directly to the launch pad. However, the schedule calls for the launching of a Titan III-C. So the train will make a stop in the Solid Motor Assembly Building (SMAB). Here the two monster solid fueled motors that make up the Titan III-C's first stage will be strapped on each side of the Core Vehicle. Then the Titan III-C will resume its journey to the launch complex 40 as the main part of a train running on double tracks. This train will be powered by two road diesels controlled by an engineer in one of the cabs—like all double-unit powered trains—only running side by side instead of end to end. Right behind the engines will be the Titan III-C, pointing skyward, on a launch platform held up by four heavy duty flat cars. Four rail vans carrying the electronic checkout devices bring up the rear.

HYENA'S LAST LAUGH

In Porto Amelia, northern Mozambique, a laughing hyena attacked Rainca Saala, 25. Saala at first was surprised by the fact that the usually cowardly animal dared to pounce on him. When he recovered from the shock he punched the hyena unconscious with his bleeding arm, and ran toward a nearby hospital.

HUNTED

By John Rankin

Ted slips his Uncle's rifle out in these mountains we'll find him if it takes all day." With a sigh of relief Ted watched the posse ride down the mountain and out of sight. But he didn't dare go home now—he'd wait till well after dark and then slip back to Mr. Dan's place, he quickly decided. Then exhausted from his trying experience he curled up on a bed of leaves under a tree and soon fell asleep.

Oh! Oh! It's Mr. Morley and his men looking after the cattle... and if they find that dead cow I'm sunk," Ted thought with alarming certainty. And then as the sound drew nearer he jumped behind a tree just as four men on horseback swung into view around a bend in the trail!

Sheriff Hunting Him? Although nightfall was swiftly closing in over the area, Ted caught a glimpse of the star on the front rider's shirt and he went cold with fear. Had Mr. Morley found out about the cow and sent the sheriff and his men to bring him in?

The officers rode by a short distance, turned and came back and stopped their horses within a foot of where Ted, his body limp with fear and hardly daring to breathe, snuggled behind the tree!

After a brief pause the sheriff shifted in the saddle to face his deputies.

"It's getting too dark to run down a fugitive tonight, men," he declared. "But we'll start again at daybreak, and if he's Goes Into Hiding The sun was high in the eastern horizon when Ted awakened, refreshed but hungry, as well as astonished that he had slept so late. But first of all, he quickly determined, he'd look for a suitable hiding place for the day where he'd be safe from the prying eyes of the sheriff and his men. Then when darkness came again and the posse had left the area he'd beat it back to Mr. Dan's place for the night.

And then as the day wore on and the posse rode to and fro over the mountain in search of their prey—Ted huddled near the trail in a small cave behind a huge boulder... paying little heed to the busy spider weaving a network of cobwebs over the entrance.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

Believe it or not—Nichols Park Ladies Day golfers had a beautiful day. Yep—it didn't rain. Every once in a while we get a nice day. Last Tuesday was a perfect day. Not too many turned out, with vacations and all, but the ones that were out had fun.

The play for the day was "Tee to green." When all were in the total number of putts were subtracted from the total score and the results were as follows:

1st flight — Mickey Goodrich, 1st; Ellen Gross, Betty Brown, Blanche Reuck, 2nd.

There were two chip-ins.

Ray Goolsby, Manito Girl Wed In Church Rites

Miss Sandra Kay Schappaugh and Ray Edward Goolsby were married Saturday evening, June fifth in Trinity Lutheran Church at Manito. Rev. Paul V. Schnelle officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with pink and white gladioli. Mrs. Pearl Lee of Manito was organist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Schappaugh, Sr. of Manito, and Mrs. Matilda Goolsby of Manito, formerly of Jacksonville, and the late Harry L. Goolsby.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was white lace over satin. Her fingertip length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a cascade of pink and white carnations.

Miss Lucille Schappaugh was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ardith Reynolds of Manito. Both wore gowns of pink chiffon over taffeta and matching bow headpieces. They carried pink and white carnations.

Charles Goolsby of Jacksonville was his brother's best man. Perry Jessie of Jacksonville was groomsman and serving as ushers were Paul and Donald Schappaugh, brothers of the bride.

After the ceremony, a reception attended by 75 guests, was held in the church's education building. Assisting were Mrs. Nelson Schappaugh of Havana, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Carolyn Gardin and Mrs. Shirley Devall, sisters of the bride, Miss Diana Tisdale and Mrs. Jean Schappaugh, sister-in-law of the bride.

The newlyweds are at home in Manito after returning from a wedding trip to Florida.

The new Mrs. Goolsby was graduated from Forman Community High school in Manito. Mr. Goolsby is a graduate of Jacksonville High school and is employed by the Caterpillar Tractor Company of Peoria.

Out-of-town guests were from Manito, South Pekin, Stanford, Easton, Forest City, Havana, Jacksonville and Calumet Park.

The bride was honored at a shower on May 15. Hostesses were Mrs. Carol Barnes, Mrs. Jean Schappaugh and Mrs. Jean Decanter.

Alpha Witham and Liz Dowland, which automatically gives them a prize.

Tuesday afternoon I had the privilege of watching Don Fairfield play at Nichols Park. I joined the spectators following the foresome just to see how it should be done, and I sure found out. Mr. Fairfield made it look so easy. It really was a pleasure and a privilege to watch him play golf. But I just can't understand why his golf ball hits on the green and stops and mine hits and runs clear, across and sometimes off again.

I guess that's the reason he is a pro and I am just me. So I will keep plugging away with the rest of you, and in the meantime — See you there, Fran Chumley.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Thorndike

The fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Thorndike of Jacksonville route one will be celebrated August twenty-second. Award Winners At Greenfield Homecoming GREENFIELD—The 18th triennial Homecoming closed Friday evening and was immediately rated a success. The event drew people from many states. The parade on Wednesday night was the largest ever with over 70 individual units, three bands, beauty queens, bicycles, small vehicles, horses, ponies, and antique cars.

In the commercial display division, first place went to Shields Memorial Home with an 1898 horse drawn hearse and modern funeral cars with three generations of the family participating; second, Greenfield Gas and Supply; third, Meng and Secor.

Bicycles, Leanna Cunningham, Johnnie Scott, Jane Greer, and Jolleen Scott.

Trophies were presented to the top horse, Earl Lorton, White Hall. Prize pony was owned by Bobby Wyma. Charles Hartman won honorable mention.

Homecoming prize winners in the various drawings were: color TV, Bobby Neil Cole; bicycle, Robert Tucker, Jerseyville; electric knife, C. W. Good, St. Louis; camera, Charlotte Burrus, Carrollton; transistor radio, Marilyn Langley, Lockport; rod and reel, Clyde Hamilton; wrist watch, Carroll Walker, Rockbridge; corn popper, Bill Scott, Rockbridge; thermos jug, Cletus Roth; kitchen tool set, Miss Eleanor Wayham.

This was the first time the Greenfield Lions club sponsored the Homecoming. Martin D. Roth, general chairman, said it was a financial success and will be repeated in August, 1968.

Specialist or Jack-of-all-Trades?

More and more, our graduate schools are preparing young men and women for the "Age of Specialization." The jack-of-all-trades can no longer give satisfactory service if he tries to cope with all of the problems in any particular field. Specialization has become almost mandatory as the horizons of knowledge continue to expand. Savings and loan associations are specialists. They specialize in two fields—savings and home loans.

Today, savings and loan associations provide the facilities for 37,000,000 people to save their money with safety and profit.

Today, savings and loan associations make more home loans than all other financial institutions combined, over 1,000,000 in 1964 alone.

This specialization provides better services for you and the people in your community. If you are planning to open a savings account or want a home loan to fit your individual need, come in and see us. We are specialists.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal:

HEAVY SHOWER — From appearances in the morning, and the swollen condition of the brooks and creeks, the shower on Sunday night last was the heaviest of the season. Several bridges were swept away in various parts of the county, and in some places serious damage done to crops, whole fields being inundated, and fences carried away.

COL. HENRY CASE — We learn that this gentleman, late Col. of the 129th Regt. of Ill. Vols., recently returned from service, designs making Jacksonville his home in the future. Col. Case formerly resided in Winchester, and, as a lawyer of fine abilities, has gained an extensive reputation and acquaintance in Morgan and adjoining counties.

Case didn't stay a colonel long. Somewhere before 1885 was over a promotion to brigadier general was received by him. It was dated the previous January and presumably had been lost in the mails all that time. But from that day forward he was General Case to one and all, especially in his unsuccessful quest for Congress, on the Republican ticket.

GIFT SHOWER — Wm. A. Bradford & Co., of Chicago, are getting up a big thing in the shape of a Gift Concert, involving the distribution of over nineteen thousand dollars worth of valuable articles. A. N. McDonald has tickets for sale, and will give all the information needed.

The Gift Concert got to be a pretty sizeable lottery within the next year and Jacksonville had one that supposedly raked the county out of at least $5,000. The "Concert" tickets were numbered and prizes were drawn against the numbers. It is said that over 4,000 tickets were sold for a hall that seated 842. About 500 holders attended to hear a concert given by a half-dozen amateur musicians. But before June, 1886, the postoffice authorities stepped in and put a stop to the profitable swindle.

NEW OUTFIT — One of the proprietors of the JOURNAL office has just returned from Chicago, where he purchased a large and select assortment of book and job type. They are now prepared to execute with increased dispatch all varieties of printing with a neatness and finish not surpassed in the West.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel: Dick Dines & Co. have just received fresh oysters. Call and see.

NEW FASHION EMPORIUM — Mrs. B. E. Clarke opened a new fashionable dress making establishment over Foreman, Don Carlos & Co.'s store, southeast corner of the public square. She is prepared to execute work in her line, in the latest New York and Paris fashions. See advertisement.

REMOVED — Foreman, Don Carlos & Co. have removed their family grocery and dry goods establishment to Stacy's old stand, south-east corner of the square, where they have opened up a full stock of select dry goods and groceries.

SOLDIER'S RECEPTION DINNER AT PISGAH CHURCH — The reception speech was delivered by Rev. Wm. Gallaher of Jacksonville, formerly the minister of Pisgah. He spoke briefly of our national troubles and the causes of the war, which he attributed to the rebels south and the copperheads north. He spoke of the companies and places of enlistment of the soldiers who had attended that church. He also gave a very touching account of his own son, Jimmie, who enlisted for three months, under Capt. King, to guard rebel prisoners at Camp Butler, but the regiment was unexpectedly called away to Alexandria, where he died, like ten thousand others, in the hospital.

Sixty years later surviving "old soldiers" who heard Rev. William G. Gallaher speak asserted it was the most touching address they ever heard. Most of them concluded their observations with "There wasn't a dry eye in the church."

Young Gallaher and many of his fellow students at Illinois College enlisted in Co. A, 68th Illinois Infantry, which was to be "a three months' regiment." The company was commanded by Capt. John W. King, Jacksonville jeweler and a veteran of the First Illinois Volunteer Regiment of the Mexican War.

The 68th was made up almost entirely of college students, from Bloomington, Jacksonville, Decatur, Peoria and Galesburg. All of them were young. They were ordered to Washington, D.C., when the Confederates were threatening to capture the national capital in the summer of 1862. A few

69 YEARS AGO

Big Burgoo At The Point

Last week a Jacksonville lady, so modest that she declined the use of her name, brought in a handbill advertising the 6th annual burgoo in George S. Richardson's Grove west of Jacksonville.

The printer who got up the handbill, 13 1/2 x 10 inches in size, was no novice. In type selection and arrangement it is a typographical gem. Although printed on wood pulp newsprint it is still in pretty good condition, which indicates manufacturers knew much more about making newsprint 69 years ago than they evidently know today.

The advertisement read: READ! READ! It Beats the World and Don't You Forget It. Our 6th Annual SOUP DINNER and Festival in G. S. Richardson's Grove at the Point, six miles west of Jacksonville, on the State Road, Wednesday, August 15, 1894.

The committee will do their best to entertain you. Be sure and be on hand early and have a good day.

SCOTT'S JUBILEE SEXTETTE, representing the Morgan County Fair, August 21-24, 1894, will enliven the occasion with their excellent singing. There was a woodcut depicting an obviously very happy man exclaiming:

Whoopie! Grand! I'd rather give half of my life than miss that Point Soup. It's just delicious.

Then there was a poem written for the occasion, four stanzas of eight lines and each ending with a variation of "Our Grand Soup Dinner." The poem dealt with the topics of the day: hard times, massive unemployment, strikes, mobs in the major cities, lockouts, factory closings, tariff reform and Coxey's army.

The poet asserted: Yes, Coxey's army's done their best. As sure as I'm a sinner, And most of them are coming west, To be at our Soup Dinner.

Conversations of the day dealt with speculations on the Morgan county corn crop, which ended at 75% of normal, the heat and drought of July and the first half of August, the dusty roads, the standings of the Jacksonville Lunatics in the Mississippi Valley Baseball League (in fourth place, topped by Rock Island, Peoria and Omaha, and trailed by Lincoln, St. Joseph, Des Moines and Quincy) and the 16th daughter, no sons, just born to Mr. and Mrs. Sanders Nunes of Jacksonville. The proud papa said he was the happiest man in the world to have 16 such lively and fine looking girls in his house, but most people just shook their heads and Illinois College mathematicians tried to figure out the odds of it ever happening again.

Monday, Aug. 13, was a scorcher, 100 in the shade. But that night it rained all over the county and Wednesday was a perfect day for the burgoo. Sammy Nichols attended and wrote it up for the Thursday JOURNAL. Sammy liked people and he liked to eat and he was by far the best burgoo and chicken dinner reporter the paper has ever had. A good dinner, particularly three or four bowls of burgoo, guaranteed at least a column, usually more, in the next day's edition.

And the opposite was true. If you didn't serve food Sammy figured the event couldn't possibly warrant more than a short paragraph in the "City & County" column.

Sammy got out his biggest headline type for the 6th burgoo.

THE BURGEOO. Another Great Annual Meeting at the Point. A Thousand Gallons of Soup Disappears and A Day of Pleasure Enjoyed.

Weeks later they were moved slightly south. They never saw battle, but paid a costly fee to disease — first typhoid fever and later a very virulent form of measles.

The regiment was mustered out the last week of September. Nearly all of Co. A reenlisted in other regiments, particularly in the 101st Illinois Infantry which was then in training at the Morgan county fairgrounds. Dr. Gallaher was the pastor of Pisgah Presbyterian church for 31 years, but he always lived on Grove street so his children could attend school and college. His health broke badly after the death of his son and he was forced to give up the Pisgah pastorate early in January, 1885.

His speech must have been a very forceful one for his auditors to recall it so distinctly so many years later.

"The day was perfect," he wrote, "the roads free from dust and the grove in beautiful condition. Early in the day people began arriving in all manners of vehicles and by noon there were hundreds of all sorts on the ground, and thousands of people. The best of feeling prevailed and all seemed bent on having a good time."

The Jubilee Singers "rendered delightful music throughout the day and will be a great treat for fair goers next week," the reporter opined.

The soup kettles were under "the management of Jas. Ransom, John Scott, Peter D. Megginson, John and Robert Ransom, George Sturdy, John Leach, Jr., and Samuel Thompson. Of course, they had many helpers, especially in the stirring side of the business."

Contests And Prizes — The games began at 10 o'clock with the men's race, 100 yards and return, which was won by Alex. Ransom. His prize was a buggy duster given by Lashmet and Breckon of Jacksonville.

Tom Thompson threw a sledge hammer 63'6" and won the pair of gold cuff buttons offered by F. Poffenbarger & Co. John Tobin threw a 50 pound scale weight 16 feet and got a pair of slippers from Hatfield, northwest corner of the square. J. Heaton won the apple race and he surely ran his very best for the prize was "a horse or mule shod all around by the Jameson Bros."

During the day there were 26 different athletic contests for men, boys and girls, with prizes furnished by Jacksonville and Lynnville merchants. The big event was the tug of war, 10 men on a side, between Buckhorn and Point, with the home team winning a box of candy sent out by Bohlender & Howard, Jacksonville confectioners.

Serving began at noon and by 2 o'clock "the 1,000 gallons of soup was all gone, along with 125 gallons of ice cream, 120 dozen of pop and lots of other good things, although the lemonade held out throughout the day."

Sammy closed his account by referring to the poem on the handbill:

As a poet Jas. Ransom is a genius not fully known and appreciated and he makes the best possible walking advertisement for the soup.

This affair is becoming one of the regular, popular events of the year, and each meeting is a little larger than the last one.

It must have been a wonderful day.

August, 1885
Henry B. Jenkins, paying teller at Phoenix Bank, of Wall street, was arrested on the 10th of August for embezzling $250,000 of the bank, with which he had been connected 20 years.

Herschel Johnson, candidate for vice-presidency on the Douglas ticket in 1880, has been pardoned by the President.

A mine of solid petroleum has been found in Western Virginia. The vein varies in depth from 30 inches to 250 feet. A ton of the ore yields 170 gallons of pure oil.

Whole numbers of pensions granted up to July 1. For widows and minor children, 100,000; for invalids, 75,000.

A negro woman who was baptized a few Sundays ago in Huntsville, Ala., came forth from the water shouting: "Freed from slavery, freed from sin, bless God and Gen. Grant."

Mr. Greeley is not only to remain on the TRIBUNE, but the stockholders voted to raise his salary from $5,000 to $7,000 per annum.

A Yankee in Kansas sells liquor in a gun-barrel instead of a glass, to evade the law and make it appear beyond dispute that he is selling by the barrel.

Lydia Maria Child calls hoops "hen-coops," in which we suppose the women in them are chickens.

The present mayor of Fernandina, Florida, was elected by negro votes, and his election has been recognized by the highest judicial authority of the nation. This the first and only case in Florida where the negroes have participated in an election.

Last Friday the Union Hotel at Saratoga entertained 1,490 people, who consumed 1,240 pounds of beefsteak, exclusive of other meats, and 400 quarts of ice cream.

The Postmaster-General, in re-establishing the mails in the South, will not renew the contracts at the old terms, which were often most extravagant. During the war the department has become self-sustaining, and a strong effort will be made to keep it so.

HUMORS of the day

August, 1885
A wag has truthfully said, that if some men could come out of their graves, and read the inscriptions on their tombstones, they would think they had got into the wrong grave!

An Irish witness in a court of justice, being asked what kind of "ear-marks" the hog in question had, replied, "He had no particular ear-marks except a very short tail."

The difficulty of acquiring our language which a foreigner must experience is illustrated by the following question: "Did you ever see a man pare an apple or a pear with a pair of scissors?"

Hon. Josiah Quincy says C.S.A. means now, "Can't Secede Again."

A gentleman, who recently traveled over a western railroad, declared his opinion that it is the safest road in the country, as the superintendent keeps a boy running ahead of the train to drive off the cattle and sheep.

FOREIGN

August, 1885
The proprietor of the EGYPTIAN, published at Alexandria, has been compelled to stop the issue of his paper, in consequence of his compositors and workmen being panic-stricken and leaving the place on account of the cholera.

A rich foreign parvenue, a few days back, paraded in the Champs Elysees in a carriage drawn by six horses. Greatly to his astonishment, he was waited on shortly after his return home by a high functionary of the police, who told him that in France no one was allowed to use six horses except the sovereign. He complained that he could not have as many animals in his carriage as he pleased, but he was informed that if he again presented himself with six horses, the animals and the carriage would be seized, and he himself would be arrested.

Dr. Pritchard, the poisoner of his wife and his wife's mother, was hanged at Glasgow in the presence of 100,000 witnesses.

Queen Emma, of Hawaii, is now one of the lions of London. She is the guest of Lady Franklin.

Senators Clip Baltimore, 4-2, On Three Homers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Washington Senators throttled Baltimore threats with four double plays and edged the slumping Orioles 4-2 Friday night on homers by Willie Kirkland, Mike Brumley and Dick Nen.

Kirkland socked a solo homer in the fourth inning for the first hit off Wally Bunker. Brumley homered in the fifth after a walk to Woody Held. Nen connected with the bases empty in the ninth.

Washington's only other hits were singles by Ken McMullen in the fifth and seventh.

Baltimore rapped nine hits off Phil Ortega before he was relieved in the sixth by Mike McCormick, but scored only on Brooks Robinson's two-run homer in the third.

Earlier in the inning third baseman McMullen raced in to grab Russ Snyder's attempted sacrifice bunt and doubled Norm Siebern off first. Bob Johnson's single then preceded the homer by Robinson.

Ortega, McCormick (6), Kline (9) and Brumley; Bunker, S. Miller (8) and Lau, Brown (7). W—Ortega (12-11). L—Bunker (6-6).

Home runs—Washington Kirkland (13), Brumley (3), Nen (2). Baltimore, Robinson (9).

Identa Hour 1st In Fair Stakes On Opening Day

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Identa Hour, owned by Floyd M. Griebel of Marengo, Ill., won the 3-year-old pace, filly division of the Illinois State Fair Colt Stakes Friday on the opening harness race card.

The chestnut mare captured straight heats of 2:02 1-5 and 2:04 2-5 to win $6,249 of the $12,375 purse.

In the day's other feature — the State Fair Colt Stake 3-year-old trot filly division for an $11,875 purse — Ozma Queen handily beat First One in a raceoff. Ozma Queen is owned by Day Mangus of Kirksville, Mo., and First One by Jules Traub of Glenage, Ill., and Jack Hankins of Petersburg, Ind.

Each horse had won one of the first two heats.

Ozma Queen was driven by Phil Logan and picked up $4,750 for her owner.

A four horse spill in the first heat of the New Salem Park Pace sent driver Dee Stover of Mount Vernon, Ill., to the fairgrounds hospital with face cuts and a back injury.

Stover's horse, Arlie Frost, went down on the north turn and took three other horses out of the race. None of the other drivers were hurt, but Danny Frost and another horse, Annie Silk, were unable to compete in the second heat.

The heat was won by Dudley Chimes in 2:05. But Skinan, a brown mare owned by Reg McIntyre of Lodi, Wis., and driven by Jim McGarty, took the second heat and the race with the fastest time of 2:03.

Model Song, owned by the Herman Graham Stock Farms of Salem, Ill., captured the Capital City Trot with a second heat of 2:04 2-5.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Curt Flood snapped a tie with a run-scoring single in the seventh, then added a three-run homer in the eighth as the St. Louis Cardinals downed Cincinnati 7-2 Friday night.

Flood's single beat Jim Maloney, whose wildness helped the Cardinals score their first two runs without a hit.

Pinch hitter Tito Francona led off the seventh with a walk, and pinch runner Julian Javier was sacrificed to second. Maloney's third wild pitch moved Javier to third, and Dick Groat drew Maloney's fifth walk before Flood singled.

Hamilton Saves 3-1 Yankee Edge Over Athletics

NEW YORK (AP) — Reliever Steve Hamilton pitched out of a seventh-inning jam and saved Jack Cullen's first major league victory as the New York Yankees defeated Kansas City 3-1 Friday night.

Cullen, now 1-1, stymied the Athletics on five hits through six innings. But Kansas City loaded the bases with one out in the seventh on Bill Bryan's single, a throwing error by Cullen and a walk to Bert Campaneris.

Hamilton then came on and got pinch hitter Dick Green to hit into a double play. Kansas City 000 010 000—1 7 1

Staub Singles In Winning Run For Astros, 3-2

HOUSTON (AP) — Rusty Staub singled in Joe Morgan with an unearned run in the ninth inning, giving the Houston Astros a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets. The loss was the Mets' 11th straight.

Morgan reached second base when left fielder Jim Hickman dropped his leadoff fly ball. Morgan then advanced to third as Jim Wynn flied out and remained there as Jack Fisher walked Jim Gentile and Bob Aspromonte intentionally. Staub followed with a single to right field.

The Mets picked up two unearned runs in the fifth on Joe Christopher's double, Bob Lillis' two-base throwing error on John Stephenson's grounder and Chuck Hiller's single.

New York 000 020 000—2 6 2
Houston 000 000 201—3 5 1
Fisher and Stephenson; Nottebart and Brand. W—Nottebart (3-1). L—Fisher (7-15).

I. H. THOMPSON INJURED
SPRINGFIELD — Jacksonvilleville harness race driver and owner I. H. Thompson was involved in a three-horse collision during the second race at the State Fair Friday afternoon. Thompson received minor cuts and bruises on his face and arms, but was later released from a Springfield hospital.

McAuliffe Homer Lifts Detroit Past Angels, 2-1

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's two-run homer and clutch pitching by Denny McLain carried the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Friday night.

McAuliffe's homer, his 15th, followed a two-out single and a stolen base by Don Demter in the second inning.

Demter later was carried off the field on a stretcher after being hit a glancing blow on the side of the head by a pitch by Angels' starter Dean Chance, now 8-9.

McLain, who recorded his 10th victory in 15 decisions, pitched out of trouble in the middle innings.

Detroit 020 000 00x—2 8 1
Chance and Rodgers; McLain and Freehan. W—McLain (10-5). L—Chance (8-9). Home runs — Detroit, McAuliffe (15).

Tyus, McGuire Lead US Women To 2nd Victory

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Olympic champions Wyomia Tyus and Edith McGuire led the U.S. women's track and field forces to their second straight international victory Friday with a 62-55 margin over a talented West German team.

The American girls, who until last week had never won an international meet, defeated Poland at Warsaw 59-57.

Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., an Olympic gold medal winner in the 100 meters, won her specialty in 11.4 with Miss McGuire at her elbow.

Miss McGuire, of Atlanta, won the 200 meters as she did in Tokyo in 23.1, with Miss Tyus second.

The two also figured in the winning 400-meter relay, won by the Americans in 44.9.

Miss McGuire gained a lead over Erika Pollmann on the second leg and Miss Tyus finished about 10 yards ahead of Hannelore Swienty.

The U.S. girls won seven of the 11 events, but suffered a disappointing defeat in the 800 meters, when their 15-year-old baby of the team, Marie Mulder, suffering from a severe cold, finished last.

Examined by Dr. Kay Dooley, team physician from Pomona, Calif., Miss Mulder was found to have no fever and was permitted to run although she had the cold all week.

She was near exhaustion in finishing a far-back fourth in the event, won by Antje Gleichfeld of Germany in 2:09.5. Sandra Knott of Cleveland was second in 2:10.2, with Marie a fading last in 2:15.2.

America's other victors, in addition to Misses Tyus and McGuire, were Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland, the high jumper in 5-5 1/4; Ranae Bair, of San Diego, who took the javelin at 178.3; Willye White of Chicago, the broad jumper at 21-1 1/2; and Janell Smith of Fredonia, Kan., an 18-year-old schoolgirl, who won the 400 meters in 54 seconds.

Milwaukee Slugs 3 Home Runs For 8-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Gene Oliver slammed a pair of two-run homers and Eddie Mathews also slugged one with one on to lead the surging Milwaukee Braves to an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

The victory was the 23rd for the Braves in the last 32 games and was credited to southpaw Denny Lemaster, who flashed the form which made him a 17-game winner last season.

Lemaster yielded six hits and fanned 13 for his fifth triumph against nine losses. Milwaukee 000 250 001—8 1 1

OUT AT FIRST: Jacksonville Gold Coast's Jack Lawless is out by two steps at first after rolling to short in the first game of a twinbill Friday night. First baseman is the Jacksonville Redlegs' Bob Speaks. The Redlegs won both games, 11-0 and 7-5.

Cleveland Scores 3-1 Win Over Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Strong relief pitching by right-hander Bob Tiefenauer and two errors by the Minnesota Twins helped the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 victory over the American League leaders Friday night.

Tiefenauer, 31-year-old knuckleballer brought up from Toledo of the International League

Wednesday night, stopped the Twins after Tony Oliva's home run in the seventh inning.

The Indians jumped to a first-inning 1-0 lead and backed it up with two more runs in the fifth.

The fifth inning runs — one unearned — came on a wild pitch by Jim Perry, Oliva's error and singles by Leon Wagner, Vic Davaillo and Larry Brown.

Oldenettel's HR Allows Redlegs To Sweep Pair

Bill Oldenettel's two-run homer in the bottom of the 11th inning gave the State Hospital Redlegs a 7-1 victory and a sweep of a twinbill with Jacksonville Gold Coast, Friday night.

Rich Dixon and Jack McNeely combined to hurl a near-perfect no-hitter as the Redlegs won the opener, 11-0.

With the Redlegs leading 1-0 after two frames, Gold Coast rallied to tie against Bob Vinyard with a five-run fifth, getting three of their five hits. Big blows were Travis' two-run triple and Chuck Newport's two-run single.

Gold Coast hurler Bill Martin blanked the Redlegs for eight innings after the second. A walk to Gordon McFarland and Oldenettel's roundtripper, his second of the night, settled the issue.

The only runner against the Redlegs in the opener came on a missed third strike in the fifth. The Redlegs, meanwhile, blasted 12 hits, including seven for extra bases. Fred Curtis clubbed two roundtrippers and Tom Standerfer a pair of doubles.

The Redlegs are now 24-28 for the campaign, entering state tournament play next Wednesday night.

STENGEL ENDS HOSPITAL STAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel, accompanied by his wife, left Roosevelt Hospital via the back door Friday after a 17-day stay following the fracture of his left hip early on July 25 while getting out of a car.

The 75-year-old manager of the New York Mets went to his hotel where he will recuperate further from the surgery which permitted the insertion of a metal ball in the repaired joint.

Hospital officials said that Stengel requested their co-operation in leaving through the back door while newsmen and photographers were waiting at the front because "he wanted to leave as quickly as possible."

START BASEBALL PRACTICE
CHANDLERVILLE — Members of the baseball teams of the Chandlerville grade and high school will begin season practice on Wednesday, August 14th. The high school boys at 2 p.m. and the grade school players at 3:30 p.m. Their physical examination cards and school insurance cards are to be brought to this meeting.

Dick Wolff, NEA's fishing expert, goes after and gets the big ones.

NOT ME, WAHOO, HIM!—New York Jets quarterback Mike Taliaferro (17) tackles Houston's Bob McLeod with generous, if misguided, assistance from teammate Wahoo McDaniel (54). McDaniel dove for McLeod during a recent AFL exhibition, but wound up on Taliaferro's back.

Aaron Keeps Front In PGA 2nd Round

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's fallen idol, took an incredible nine including another two-stroke penalty — on a par 5 hole while scrambling Tommy Aaron, who retained his lead in the PGA Championship with a 137 after Friday's frantic second round.

Palmer wound up with a 75 for a 147 total and 10 strokes back.

While major misfortune was once again befalling Palmer, the host pro, these were the other principal developments at the Laurel Valley Golf Club:

1. Canada's George Knudson shot a hole in one.

2. Most of the first round leaders careened back into the pack while Jack Nicklaus and Dave Marr moved into a tie for second at 139.

3. It rained. The sun shone. The wind blew. The wind didn't blow.

4. There was an erroneous report of a baby being born on the 12th tee.

5. A major flap developed with a report of dissent between Palmer and resident pro Paul Erath. Palmer, who had other things to worry about, and the club shrugged it off.

The two-stroke penalty for Palmer, onetime king of the game who is suddenly a struggling also-ran, was his second in as many days. Thursday's penalty came on the opening hole when he allowed two marshals to remove a bridge railing that interfered with his swing and took a double bogey 6.

Palmer's Own Doing
Friday's affair was his own doing. He reported it himself after playing his second hole, actually the 11th, on the rolling, 7,000-yard, par 36-35-71 layout. It went this way:

His second shot went into a gully. His third moved the ball only about 30 feet. His fourth was in a bunker. He blasted out and two-putted.

In the gully, however, he had knocked a rock out with his back swing on a practice stroke, recalled it later and told tourney officials. They promptly assessed two more strokes.

The leaders had their troubles — not like Palmer, of course — on the course that was made tougher by gusty winds, a shower, longer tees and more testing, and pin placements.

There were but a scattering of sub-par rounds, led by the 69s posted by Knudson and Marr. Knudson's was bolstered by the third ace in PGA Championship history. He made it with a three-iron on the 238-yard eighth.

Aaron Rallies To Keep Lead
Aaron, who had a first-round 66, scrambled to a 71. He fell back to second at one point on four bogeys and as many birdies, three of them on his last four holes.

Marr bogeyed two long par 4s, but caught four birds, including a fantastic shot out of the water and onto the green on No. 15.

Nicklaus was up and down — "don't ask me how the fairways were. I didn't see them all day. It was a real scramble round — with his 70.

They hold a one-stroke lead over Billy Casper, who came in with a 70 for 140 and was alone in fourth place. Gardner Dickinson and Ray Floyd, two of the first-day contenders, followed at 141 — Floyd after a 73 and Dickinson after 74.

Don Bies, a young club pro from Seattle, veteran Mike Souchak and Dick Sikes followed at 142.

Among the other first-round leaders, Mason Rudolph had a 76, and Sam Snead and Bruce Devlin 75s for 143.

Defending champion Bobby Nichols had a 75 for 149, just putting him under the wire in the cut to the low 70 and tie for the final two rounds. U.S. Open champion Gary Player went to a 72 for 146.

Leaders after the second round in the PGA Championship at the 7,090 — par 36-35 — 71 Laurel Valley Golf Club:

Tommy Aaron 66-71—137

Dave Marr 70-69—139

Jack Nicklaus 69-70—139

Billy Casper 70-70—140

Gardner Dickinson Jr. 67-74—141

Raymond Floyd 68-73—141

Offense

RECEIVERS — Counting on rookie Roy Jefferson to team with Gary Ballman as deep threat, which would let Clendon Thomas return to defense. Strong battle at tight end between Chuck Logan, who's put on 20 pounds and soph Jim Kelley, with John Powers in there, too. Ballman's one of league standouts as all around threat. RATING — fair.

DEFENSIVE LINE — Ben McGee at end and Chuck Hinton at tackle were the standouts of '64 and still developing. Have big hopes, too, for Ray Mansfield, but end John Baker is getting pushed by rookie Frank Molden (Jackson State). Ex-Card Ken Kortas has the size to be useful, too. McGee's the only noncastoff in the lot. RATING — good.

DEFENSIVE BACKS — Won't know final lineup until decide where Clendon Thomas will play, offense or defense. Willie Daniel, Brady Keys are set on corners. Dick Haley, Jim Bradshaw the interim choices at safety, with Marv Woodson and Bob Sherman for plugging duties. Only rookie with a chance to succeed is Craig Lofquist. RATING — fair.

SUMMARY — Unless one of youngsters develops sensationaly or Ed Brown dips into Ponce de Leon's stuff, quarterback situation will drag Steelers down. They're not real solid club to start with, and that once rugged defense is beginning to show gaps. PREDICTION — fair-to-good.

HOT BAT—The burning bat belongs to Willie Stargell, Pittsburgh outfielder, and one of the leaders in home runs and RBIs in the National League.

Mrs. Proffer Of Carrollton Dies Friday

CARROLLTON — Mrs. Mary E. Proffer, 74, wife of Frank A. Proffer of Carrollton, died at 9 a.m. Friday at Boyd Memorial hospital where she had been a patient for a week. For the past year Mrs. Proffer had lived at the Tower View Nursing Home. She was born near Kane, Nov. 15, 1891, the daughter of D. P. and Missouri Coates Stone. She married Frank A. Proffer May 30, 1909. He survives along with the following children, Franklin of St. Joseph, Mo., Mrs. Adam Weber of Carrollton, Mrs. Francis Britton of Collinsville, Richard of Roodhouse, and Finley of Carrollton, 19 grandchildren, 8 great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Reif of Eldred. She was a member of the Carrollton Christian church. The body was taken to the Simpson. Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Carrollton Christian church, Reverend Norman Ward of White Hall officiating. Burial will be in Jalappa cemetery, southeast of Carrollton. The body will be taken to the church one hour before time of services.

White Hall City Council Changes Zone Ordinance

WHITE HALL — The City Council of White Hall met Wednesday evening in the council chambers to consider a zoning ordinance. The ordinance was presented with petitions from residents living on North Main street and adjacent streets next to the Kroger Company supermarket which is under construction at the corner of North Main and Ross streets. The zoning ordinance prevents the erection of commercial buildings from Bridgeport street north on Main street to the crossing of First avenue and Hubbs avenue. The vote of the aldermen was a tie, 3 to 3. The mayor broke the tie who voted in favor of the ordinance making it effective. The Kroger Company has given options on two pieces of property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trible of Emporia, Kansas, and Miss Mabel Halbert of Springfield, and reportedly have done considerable work in surveying and marking off the optioned ground. The ordinance will also have to do with the development program in other parts of town. Interest will be taken in the further action of Kroger Company.

LaGrange Picnic Sunday, Aug. 15

VERSAILLES — The LaGrange Sunday school picnic will be held August 15 at the LaGrange Chapel. Mrs. Glenn James is a patient in Blessing hospital, Quincy. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feld and two children of Plymouth, Michigan, have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Christine Hurst. Mrs. Katherine Moore of College Park, Md. is visiting her daughter and family, the Al Cooleys. The Optimist Class of the Christian church met with Mrs. Eva Howell Thursday. Cecil Logsdon returned home Monday after several weeks stay in St. Francis hospital, Peoria. He is doing well after a very serious accident. Mr. and Mrs. John Babb and Beer appears to have been the national beverage of ancient Egypt. There is a reference to it as early as 2800 B.C. During his reign, Ramses III, who lived about 1225 B.C., is claimed to have distributed the equivalent of more than 500,000 gallons. Beer was also used extensively in medicine.
